WOOL BILL ELECTRIC GOES TO CAUCUS

uctions of From Half to Two-Thirds Made in All Tariff Duties

n's Entrance Into Fight May Work Change in the Outcome

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Democratic wool tariff bill, prepared by the ways and means committee of the house, was presented to the Democratic caucus at noon today. The bill makes reductions of from one-half to two-thirds in all wool duties. Raw wool itself, which was free in previous Democratic tariff bills, is given a duty of 20 per cent ad valorem, equivalent from 2 to 5 cents a pound.

With its probable bearing on the wool tariff policy of the Democratic party in the future, the caucus of House Democrats to consider the Underwood bill, revising the wool schedule of the Payne-Aldrich law, held the undivided attention of political Washington today.

Advocates of free wool and those who favored a revenue only" was interesting enough in itself, but the advent of J. Bryan into the fray a few days served to stir matters up still further.

UNDERWOOD BILL.

The Underwood bill imposes a large duty on raw wool. The full opportunity will be given for discussion in the caucus today, however, the advocates of free wool will get away with a vote on that proposition.

In Underwood, of the ways and means committee, was confident that Bryan's entrance into the fight would not materially change the outlook forward to the passage of the revenue measure. Two-thirds vote of all House members is required.

There has been much comment in Washington as to Bryan's purpose in entering the fight. The Democrats vote on raw wool, and many political observers take it to be a forerunner of active activity by the Nebraska leader. Whether this activity will go so far as another candidacy for the presidential nomination or whether it is confined to assisting in the selection of a candidate agreeable to all is being widely discussed.

Effort will be made to reach a caucus today. If that is impossible, the House will meet tomorrow, will have a brief session and the caucus immediately resumed.

REGULAR PASSENGER SERVICE TO ALAMEDA MOLE BEGUN EARLY TODAY

Steam Service to Be Resumed Temporarily During Rush Hours

ALAMEDA, June 1.—Passengers were carried by the new electric cars over the south side electric route today for the first time. The steam cars were replaced by the new coaches on the south shore route at 8 o'clock this morning and commuters enjoyed for the first time the trip over the new system.

The electric cars were operated throughout the day, but will be taken off the road at 5 o'clock when the heavy traffic will commence. Although the operators of the new cars are thoroughly competent to handle them, it was deemed safer to run the steam locals during the rush hours.

The first car operated over the line at 8 o'clock this morning made the run from High street to the Alameda mole in the scheduled time of 15 minutes, connecting with the ferry boat. The route is from High street direct to the Alameda mole with stops at the Southern Pacific stations.

OFFICIAL TEST IS MADE.

An official test of the road was made by the Southern Pacific officials yesterday. In the party of officials were Superintendent W. A. Whitney of the western division; W. R. Scott, assistant general manager; C. F. Fee, passenger agent; H. J. Small, general superintendent motor power; A. H. Babcock, electrical engineer; Dr. F. K. Alsworth, general surgeon; E. R. Anthony, assistant superintendent of the coast division; W. H. Norton, assistant superintendent of the suburban lines; T. H. Goodman, retired ticket agent; J. C. Barlow, electrical department; Thornwell Mullally, F. A. Fish, E. R. Small, W. D. Duer of Chicago and R. H. Clark.

J. C. Fielding and H. A. McKinnon, conductor and engineer, were in charge of the train which carried the officials. Two trains of two cars each were operated over the line today. Residents of the city made trips to the mole during the day to ride on the new cars and a large number of interested spectators gathered at the different stations to view the electric trains.

The new trains were operated at full speed today, the official tests yesterday satisfying the officials of the company that no risk was being incurred in putting on full power. Speed tests were made on Farnside boulevard yesterday.

The cars will be operated now daily in place of the steam cars. Several of the officials of the Southern Pacific Company were in the city today and made the trip with passengers on the run to the mole.

GARY GOES ON HOUSE GRILL

Director of Steel Corporation Discloses the Power of Alleged Trust

Denies Knowledge of Proposed Formation of Combination to Control Trade of World

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation, flatly denied today any knowledge of the proposed formation of a combination to control the steel trade of the world. Gary appeared before the House committee investigating the "steel trust," and declared that he had come to Washington to tell frankly all he knew of the big corporation.

The disclosures as to the world-wide combination was called out by a statement by Chairman Stanley that Gary was accredited with being directing genius of such a "trust." Stanley intimated that these reports had had much to do with the inquiry started by the House of Representatives.

PROMISES FIGURES.

Gary declared he would furnish all the facts and figures the committee wanted concerning the affairs of the United States Steel Corporation and its subsidiary companies.

"All that you need to do is to request what you want," he said "and we will furnish it. We stand or fall on our record."

He declared that the bureau of corporations, the report of which the committee has been endeavoring to get from Secretary Nagel, with the consent of the president, has been investigating the steel corporation for five or six years.

"The government's investigation through that source has been most thorough and exhaustive," said Gary. "The bureau of corporations must have a house full of facts. It has cost the steel corporation hundreds of thousands of dollars to comply with the requests of that bureau for information and statistics."

Stanley asked as to the nature of the American iron and steel.

When Chairman Stanley called the committee to order there were also present, in response to official summons, Norman B. Ream, Percival Roberts, James Daley and W. B. Dickinson of the directorate of the steel corporation. Whether all would be examined today, Chairman Stanley would not say. Gary and his business associates arrived in Washington early prepared to remain until the committee could conclude its business with them.

The committee of inquiry had its full membership present today. Martin W. Littleton of New York, who was absent when John W. Gates testified last week, having returned.

SUPREME CONTROL.

"There is not any doubt," Gary told the committee today, "that the United States Steel Corporation, as the owner of most of the stock of the subsidiary companies, ultimately controls those subsidiary companies, including their management and conduct."

Asked if the Carnegie Steel Company now competes with other subsidiary companies.

Saved From Live Wires by Policeman

DENVER, June 1.—Patrolman Albert Collins effected a thrilling rescue of Edward Welch, a negro porter, from the meshes of electric wires above a crowded Denver street today. Welch was cleaning windows when he fell, landing among the wires, forty feet from the pavement. One of his hands lay across a live wire and the odor of burning flesh reached the crowd below, while two fingers dropped to the ground. Collins crawled out on a fire-escape, used a mop to dislodge Welch's arm from the live wire and with the aid of another policeman pulled Welch into a window. It is believed Welch may recover, although his arm must be amputated.

HUSBAND ACCUSES FRIEND

Arthur Dice Brands Wife of Another Responsible for Spouse's Attempt

Mrs. Blount and Walter Grimes Blamed for Breach in Fruitvale Household

FRUITVALE, June 1.—"That little story about the good samaritan who took the rattlesnake into his house and befriended him" when he was almost frozen to death, will fit this case more accurately than anything else you can say about it."

This is the first explanation offered by Arthur Dice, a carpenter residing at 533 Olive street, to a representative of THE TRIBUNE, for his wife's attempt at suicide on Fruitvale avenue last night, by taking strychnine. Dice tells a story like a page from a novel.

"The trouble started six months ago," he said, "when a woman living across the street from my house, a Mrs. Blount, wife of an army officer, who went by the name of Miss Irene Arthur, and a mother of a five-year-old boy, lost her money and was to be forced out of her home. At first she told my wife and I that he had lost all of his money in some some man in Fresno and later told us that he had lost all of his money in some kind of a deal. Not wanting to see a sick woman put into the street, my wife and I decided to take her into our home."

TROUBLE BEGINS.

"Then the trouble began. From the first day that she made her appearance in our home my wife began to hear things from the outside. Neighbors started their tongues wagging and made statements about me and the woman."

"Finally my wife began to believe these tales and no denial on my part appeased her. The woman herself, who we had befriended, started often to my wife that I was going to leave her and go and live with her. Walter Grimes, a young man who was also living with us, added to these tales and before many weeks had passed I found myself arrayed against my wife and the friends I had taken in."

"Two months ago, after a trying ordeal at home, I left the house to take a walk. On my return home I found my wife lying on the floor with an empty poison bottle in her hand. I called in a doctor and after working over her for more than two hours he succeeded in restoring her. I asked her what was the matter and she told of the gossip of the neighbors, accused me of going around with other women and Miss Arthur in particular, and declared she had attempted suicide. All these statements I denied and she promised me that she would never attempt to take her life again."

TRIED IT AGAIN.

"Twice since then she has attempted to take poison, but some how or other her plans miscarried. She was always caught in the act. I secured a position in Nevada, thinking that it was best for us to part for a while. I also got her a good position in Oakland. When I broached the plan to her she was perfect."

$2,000,000,000 Put In Electricity Plants

Annual Income of 6000 Stations in United States Is Fixed at $300,000,000.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The total investment in electric light plants in the United States is more than 200,000,000,000, according to reports presented to the National Electric Light Association, which is in convention here this week. The reports cover practically 6000 stations, having an estimated total horsepower of more than 7,000,000 and kilowatt capacity of 5,000,000. The operating companies have a total capitalization of $2,400,000,000 and an annual income of $300,000,000.

MEMBER TO BEGIN QUAY WALL WORK

Machinery Now Being Installed at the Foot of Myrtle Street.

Within a day or two the necessary machinery for dredging the first section of the city quay wall, commencing at Myrtle street, will be installed. A 9-horsepower engine is being set up, which will be capable of dredging out about 100 cubic yards of dirt per hour by the hydraulic method. At the Myrtle street end of the trench, which will receive the foundation of the concrete wall, the contractors, Hansbrough & Company, have reached a depth of 35 feet, only 15 feet remaining to be excavated. At the Market street end, a depth of 30 feet has been reached. The trench section is 795 feet long. There are three more sections upon which work has not yet commenced.

The machinery for the manufacture of concrete for the wall is now on the ground and City Inspector A. D. Cross and J. W. Hansbrough, one of the firm, are on the job rushing the work. A great portion of the sand, which has been thrown into the outer trench from the excavation for the wall, will be used in mixing the concrete, the sand being of an excellent quality for such use. Should the new machinery being installed to expedite the work prove inadequate a large plant will be established by the contractors.

GRAND JURY'S REPORT WILL AID INFIRMARY BOND ISSUE

ELECTION WILL BE HELD IN COUNTY TUESDAY

The Opposition to Movement Lessens As Plan Becomes Better Understood.

RURAL SECTIONS ARE NOW MORE FAVORABLE

Prominent Politicians Believe Two-thirds Majority Will Be Secured.

That the grand jury's vigorous con- demnation of the present dilapidated and insanitary County Infirmary, as em- bodied in its partial report yesterday morning to Superior Judge Everett J. Brown, will win many votes at the special election next Tuesday for a bond issue for the construction of a new and modern institution, was the con- sensus of opinion today among the mem- bers of the Board of Supervisors. Com- ing as it does on the eve of the elec- tion, the report seems certain to ap- peal to the humanity of the people and their pride in the county and its in- stitutions.

There has been much opposition to the bonds in the rural sections of the county, under the mistaken impression that they are to lose the institution entirely in the event that the bonds carry. On the other hand, the plans call for an institution consisting of two sections—a hospital and infirmary. Only the hospital division will be located within the corporate limits of the city of Oak- land. The infirmary branch will re- main permanently on the present site near San Leandro, and it is this fact that Supervisor C. F. Horner of the First district, consisting of Washington, Pleas- anton and Murray townships, is at present working diligently to impress upon his constituency. Supervisor W. B. Bridge of the Second district, compris- ing Eden township, what formerly was Brodwin township (outside), and the east end of Alameda, has the same feeling. His impression is that the rural voters will be with the help of the grand jury report they will be able to swing a large number of uncertain votes over to the support of the bonds. The rural voters of the county seem to have no objection to the location of the hospital in Oakland, but they do object to losing the infirmary. With the clearing up of the wrong impression that has prevailed in this connection, there is a corresponding decrease in the opposition to the bond issue. In this

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 1.—Arrangements for the entertainment of 3000 enlisted men of the United States navy, who will come ashore June 17 from the warships then in port, were announced this morning by the Chamber of Com- merce. The held meet will take place in Balboa Park and the men will be ashore from early in the morning until late in the afternoon.

A feature of the day will be a big barbecue and lunch for the sailors. Tables at which all of the men can sit at once will be built. As prizes for the winners of the athletic events the merchants of this city will present cups. It is expected that some of the ships will leave port soon after June 17 for Mare Island and Bremerton for docking and repairs. Some of the torpedo boats are to go to Portland and Seattle.

CHURCH OF BRETHREN CONFERENCE CALLED

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 1.—The world's conference of the church of the Brethren held its first session here today. It will not be under full headway until Friday. Reports of standing committees and ad- dresses were the order today.

Several train loads of delegates and visitors will arrive tomorrow morning, when the conference will get down to business. The indications are that 15,000 of the sect will be here by Sunday.

The conference continues to June 16.

Deputy District Attorney Leon A. Clark said today:

THINKS BONDS WILL CARRY.

"I have no idea that the bond issue will fail to carry. The plans call for a County Hospital and Infirmary, the former to be located within the limits of Oakland and the latter to remain where it is, a substantial heavy duty road. The rural voters have objected to the infirmary being taken away from them, but now that the wrong impression is being dispelled the opposition to the bonds outside is diminishing. This is a good sign for the whole. I be- lieve the bonds will carry by a clean majority. No voter with any sense of humanity and pride in his county can read the grand jury condemnation of the present institution and refuse to vote for the bonds."

In order for the bond issue to carry, it must secure two-thirds of all the votes cast at next Tuesday's election. The total registration of the county at present is about 56,000, and the total vote cast at last fall's general election was about 35,000. Of course, it is not ex- pected that the bond election will call out anything like that vote, but the belief is general that the balloting next Tuesday will be unusually heavy for a special bond election. There are ninety-seven voting precincts in the county, seventy-one being in Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda, and the others in the out- lying townships. It is confidently ex- pected that the three heavy ones will give the bond issue a substantial majority, which will go a long way towards help- ing the friends of the new institution in the rural districts to roll up the neces- sary two-thirds majority.

The Board of Supervisors has made all preliminary arrangements for the elec- tion. A force of men began setting up the booths at the polling places today. As there is but one proposition to be voted upon, the voting machines will not be utilized. The old ballot boxes will be resorted to for the occasion, and the voting will be according to the old sys- tem.

THINK BODY IS THAT OF HOWLAND

Charred Remains to Be Buried for Those of Man Missing Since Chutes Fire.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—The friends of Rev. H. E. Howland, the or- dained medium who has been missing since the Chutes fire early Monday morn- ing, have concluded that the third un- identified body at the morgue is his. The remains are badly charred, but as no one has since seen Howland, and as his nurse is confident that he was at the time of the blaze, the body has been taken to an undertaking establishment for burial as Howland.

Mrs. Ida McFarland, a nurse attending Dr. Howland, had aided him to a ladder after he had saved his pet parrot, when he suddenly turned and dashed back into the smoke filled hallway. The nurse fol- lowed, but was overcome by the heat and forced to return and save herself.

Howland was sent to San Quentin from Los Angeles for perjury in July, 1895. In March, 1896, he was released and, has since led an exemplary life.

TWO KILLED WHEN AUTO OVERTURNS

A. J. Boutwell and R. V. Bradley Meet Death When Car Skids.

FRESNO, June 1.—J. A. Boutwell, age 45, and R. V. Bradley, aged 35, both oil drillers, were killed about 9 o'clock last night when an automobile in which they were riding ran off an embankment on a road, ten miles from Coalinga, and pinned them underneath the wreckage. A third man in the machine escaped un- hurt.

Bradley was at once crushed to death, but Boutwell, who was not rescued from under the car for a quarter of an hour, died while being taken to Coalinga for treatment. His skull was fractured. The car was being driven by Boutwell, who, with the other men, was returning to an oil lease about twelve miles from Coalinga.

The machine skidded on a turn, and toppled into the ditch, thirty feet be- low.

TEN DROPPED FROM STATE LIBRARY FORCE

SACRAMENTO, June 1.—Because of the new law passed at the last session of the legislature which became effective today and which cuts down the monthly maintenance fund for the state library from $5000 to $3500, State Librarian Jas. L. Gillis has dismissed ten of the thirty- five or forty employees of the library, including Mrs. Sarah A. Hutchinson, mother-in-law of Charles F. Curry, for- mer secretary of state.

Although no public announcement has been made of the changes heretofore, employees who were slated for the to- morrow were given their notices early in the week. Their dismissal has no particular political significance.

Bail was fixed at $1500 in each case as fast as the parties were arrested.

FAST FREIGHT IS LOOTED BY BAND

Niagara Falls Police Seek the Robbers Who Stole Carload of Merchandise.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., June 1.—The police today are making a thorough search of the Canadian frontier for four bandits who yesterday held up an Erie freight train within the city limits and succeeded in getting away with about a carload of merchandise.

The robbers boarded the train at the yards. A little way beyond they cut the air hose, slackening the train's speed.

When the train was still in action two men rushed forward to the cab, level- ing guns at the engineer and fireman and forced them to bring the train to a standstill. The two others of the gang opened the cars and tumbled the merchandise into the road. Covered wagons drove up and the booty was hastily loaded and hurried away. The value of the haul has not yet been de- termined.

$150,000 STOLEN FROM FIRE RUINS

Police Jail Four for Stealing Copper Wire From Coney Island.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The police are searching today for $150,000 worth of copper wire which was stolen from the Dreamland ruins after Saturday's fire. Four men are under arrest, and it is expected that a number of others will be taken into custody charged with stealing several tons apiece. Practically all the copper wiring of the big amuse- ment place was removed by the thieves.

The wholesale robbery was revealed when several boat loads of men were seen rowing surreptitiously toward the shore last night. A watch was kept as the men were seen cutting away wire from the ruins. They carried their loot back to the rowboats and emptied it into a junk sloop at anchor half a mile out.

The original installation of the park and lighting wire cost nearly $400,000.

Directors of the bank say that Mil- ler's books are in perfect condition. The directors held a meeting yester- day. Miller is a native of Sierra county and bears an unblemished rep- utation. He is agent for the Wells Fargo Express Company at Loyalton. The vaults of the bank remained closed.

SOCIETY LEADER BECOMES BRIDE

Mrs. Anna A. Dunann and Carlos S. Stanley Are Married.

As the culmination of a romance which began in Long Beach some time ago, Mrs. Anna A. Dunann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Alberger of this city, was wedded this morning at 11:30 in the Church of Piedmont by Rev. Arthur Hicks, to Carlos S. Stanley, manager of the Hotel Virginia at Long Beach. Owing to illness in the family, the wedding was a quiet affair, only the immediate members and relatives being present.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Carlos Hernandez of Los Angeles, and Harry Stanley, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The groom arrived here last night from the south to fulfill their engagement, though it was not generally known among his friends in Long Beach, where he is one of the leaders of the social set, that the wedding was to take place. It will serve as a pleasant surprise to a host of friends of the couple in the southern part of the State, where Mrs. Dunann has spent a great deal of time in recent years.

W. R. Alberger, 224 Pala avenue, Piedmont, father of the bride, is well-known in financial circles throughout the country as vice-president and general manager of the San Francisco, Oakland & San Jose railway company; also of the Oakland Traction Company, of which F. M. Smith, the borax king, is president. His daughter, formerly Mrs. Dunann, has been prominently associated in social circles on both sides of the bay, and is a member of the exclusive Piedmont set.

Following a brief honeymoon the couple will make their home in the south.

Widow of Engineer Is Awarded $30,000

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—The supreme court this afternoon affirmed the judgment of the superior court of Solano county awarded to Mrs. Julia L. Peters $30,000 damages for the death of her husband, Herman L. Peters, on December 31, 1904. Peters was engineer of the Oregon Express, which ran into an open switch on the main line and collided with a construction train. He was almost instantly killed, and a jury sitting in Suisun awarded Mrs. Peters $30,000.

The Southern Pacific took the case to the supreme court, and today that tribunal decided in favor of the widow.

PICARD CHARGED WITH FELONY NEW INFERNAL MACHINE FOUND

NEYLAN GETS GOOD POLITICAL BILLET

Well Known Newspaper Man
Appointed On State Board of Control.

SACRAMENTO, June 1.—James A. Johnston, San Francisco; Clyde Seavey, Pasadena, and John F. Neyland, Sacramento.

Those are the members of the state board of control as announced today by Governor Johnson. The commissions were issued at noon and the board of control which supplants the state board of examiners will hold its first meeting on Saturday at the capitol. Clyde Seavey is well known in Sacramento, having come here during the administration of Governor Gage as assistant secretary to the secretary of the state board of examiners and held that position up to the time of his appointment by Governor Johnson to be a member of the board of control. The act which provides for the board goes into effect on Saturday, when the state board of examiners goes out of existence.

Mr. Neyland is also well known here. He is a newspaper man, having been engaged during the last campaign by a San Francisco paper.

Two Rifles and a Dagger Found in the Picard Home; Pistol With String Attached to Trigger for Purpose of Exploding the Infernal Machine; Portions of a Door Wrecked by the Explosion and (Held in Hands) Gas Pipe in Which Powder Had Been Placed.

Otto Kanitz Said to Have Been Iago in Domestic Tragedy

Sheriff Frank Barnett this afternoon reported to the police that another infernal machine had been found in the Picard residence. The discovery was made by William Spray, an expressman, and James Morrison, who at once notified Sheriff Barnett. The infernal machine consists of a red-wood box made of one-inch lumber about 16 inches by 10 inches in dimension and weighing probably fifteen pounds. The box has a false top through which a hole had been bored and thence through the other cover. Through this hole powder had been poured, evidently leading to some other explosive in the interior of the box. The box has not been opened. Why this machine did not explode when the other explosion took place is due to the fact that the powder was wet by water from the fire hose when the department extinguished the blaze in the house.

Charles H. Picard, structural iron worker and houseman, was this morning formally charged with a felony under the provision of the Penal Code against placing dynamite or other explosives to do bodily injury. The warrant was sworn to by Deputy Sheriff W. H. Kelly, one of those who touched off one of Picard's infernal machines at the man's home in Fifth avenue. Picard will be arraigned before Judge Mortimer Smith tomorrow morning.

The Otto Kanitz, now in Alaska, played Iago to Picard's Othello, and that Mrs. Rosalie Longstreet, former wife of Picard, narrowly escaped the fate of Desdemona. It is the view of the case taken by Captain of Detectives Walter J. Petersen after lengthy investigation of the case. The husband and wife, according to Captain Petersen, were poisoned against each other by insidious suggestions from Kanitz and his wife.

the neighborhood. The two families became friendly. Mrs. Longstreet declares that Kanitz, following out his dramatic role of Iago, made advances toward her, which she repulsed.

A few days later Picard was in the garden working. Kanitz went to him and it is alleged, smilingly declared that he knew of misdoings of Mrs. Picard, now Mrs. Longstreet. Picard flew into a rage.

PICARD IN RAGE.
"You cut," he shouted. "How dare you come to me and lie about my wife. I know she is all right. If you ever say another word against her, I will beat your head in."

Picard said nothing to his wife, and Kanitz was silent for some weeks. But the poison worked, and Picard began to notice small things which aroused his suspicion. Then Mrs. Kanitz dropped a hint to him. The jealous brooding of Othello, stricken with suspicion of Desdemona's faith, was paralleled in the mind of the excitable Picard. Finally the faint suspicion had become a certainty to Picard, fostered by the persistent allusion of the Kanitz family. By this time Kanitz had gone to Alaska, where he is now, but letters continued to instill poison, it is said.

Picard brooded, and once charged his wife with having been faithless to him. The two became suspicious of each other, and that night, fearing the woman would try to poison him, while she also feared for her life. Finally he ordered her from the house.

Divorce proceedings followed, and he was ordered to pay alimony. The charge mounted to over $600, which he had no means to pay. Finally he received the notice that he was to be virtually dispossessed of his home, the only thing he had left for which he cared.

PLAN FOR VENGEANCE.
With the ingenuity and carefulness that had marked his work for his employers, and his home life, he set to work to plan the engine of vengeance. Diabolical foresight in placing powder, gasoline and a loaded revolver in such a position that the opening of a door in which Mrs. Longstreet knew he kept his valuables was shown by the man and it was only by accident that he did not succeed in accomplishing his design. The house is a wreck, and Constable Al Kihn is still in the care of physicians.

Picard's bail was fixed at $10,000 this morning by Judge Smith. He has failed to raise that amount, and will remain in custody.

Roosevelt and the Apostles of Peace.

Hon. John W. Foster, former Secretary of State, does not share Colonel Roosevelt's views on arbitration. Mr. Foster is a veteran diplomatist and has had an extensive and varied experience as an adjuster of international disputes. He is an ardent believer in arbitration and warmly advocates the ratification of the proposed treaty between the United States and Great Britain. He denounces in sharp language the humbug of declaring for peace and preparing for war. Arming, he says, is no evidence of peaceful intent, and a refusal to arbitrate indicates anything but a desire to pursue a policy of justice, amity and non-aggression.

Mr. Foster was one of the speakers at the recent peace conference at Lake Mohonk, and on May 26 delivered an address in which he sharply criticized Mr. Roosevelt's attitude toward arbitration and the shifting way he had dealt with the arbitration question while President.

"No man in public life today has shown such an erratic and inconsistent course toward international arbitration as Theodore Roosevelt, whose recent fulminations on the suggested Anglo-American arbitration treaty have appeared in the public press," declared Mr. Foster in his address. "His early public career was marked by a strong hostility to arbitration. In 1895 he attacked President Harrison for submitting the Bering sea matter to arbitration. But when he assumed the responsibilities of the Presidency it was he who sent the first case to the Hague court of arbitration and invited the nations in hostile array to resort to the same court. He proposed to settle the Alaskan boundary dispute by sending the American army to occupy and hold the territory by force, but finally yielded to the pacific advice of Secretary Hay."

After reviewing the different treaties submitted by Colonel Roosevelt as President, Mr. Foster said:

"After he has played to his heart's content with his favorite terms, 'hypocrisy,' 'cowardice,' 'bad faith,' etc., we may expect this erratic but patriotic citizen to fall into line with the great march toward international peace and give his support to the great measure which most ennobles the administration of his successor." Germany cannot be expected, Mr. Foster said, to become a party to a general arbitration treaty at present. "Nevertheless," he said, "as unlimited arbitration is extended among the nations its beneficial effect must become more and more apparent, and even the German government must eventually find a modus vivendi with the peaceful nations which will enable it to restrict its armament and cease to be a menace to the world."

But Mr. Foster was mistaken in predicting that Colonel Roosevelt would fall into line as an advocate of arbitration. On Memorial Day, four days after Mr. Foster spoke at Lake Mohonk, Colonel Roosevelt took a smash at arbitration in general. Speaking to the veterans of the Civil War assembled at Grant's tomb in New York, Colonel Roosevelt, by inference, condemned the Anglo-American arbitration treaty and the policy of which it is expressive. Incidentally he made a plea for a stronger army and navy establishment, asserting that being fully prepared for war is the best guarantee of peace. He disagreed entirely with Cardinal Gibbons, who sent the Lake Mohonk conference a letter warmly endorsing the Anglo-American arbitration treaty, and expressing the opinion that similar relations between Germany and England would be "an incalculable blessing to mankind."

It is not impossible that Colonel Roosevelt had Cardinal Gibbons and Ex-Secretary Foster in mind when he denounced "the false apostles of peace" at Grant's tomb. He spoke four days after Mr. Foster spoke at Lake Mohonk, at which time the letter from Cardinal Gibbons was read. His address at Grant's tomb appears to have been intended as a reply to the speech of Mr. Foster, for it dealt with the same subject and gave evidence of heat and temper. He picked an excellent time and place for appealing to the war spirit and rallying to his support the passions engendered by civil strife. But he forgot the deeper lesson Memorial Day conveys. The multitude of graves and the long pension roll are not an encouragement for war. As General Sherman said, "War is hell," and if armies and navies are not maintained to fight they are useless incumbrances which unnecessarily burden and tax a nation.

The last public hanging has taken place in Kentucky. Hereafter legal executions in that State will be private and by electrocution. All other States should adopt the same method. The public hanging is a public disgrace, a relic of barbarism and morally bad.

The alleged farmers' propaganda against the reciprocity agreement between Canada and the United States is being conducted from No. 11 Wall street. Hard by is the Stock Exchange and the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., and around at 26 Broadway is the headquarters of the Standard Oil Company. Here are friends of the farmer, indeed. It is always shearing season in Wall street, and hence the interest Wall street takes in the wool tariff. It wants the tariff to temper the wind to the shorn lambs. Moreover, the honest agriculturists who gather about Wall and Broad streets are deeply, almost tearfully, concerned for the welfare of the corn-growers of Iowa and the wheat-growers of Minnesota. They are protesting against the ruin reciprocity with Canada will inflict on the farmers of the country. They do not give a hang about the duties on iron ore, wood pulp, steel rails and woolen goods. Wall streets bleeds sorely for the actual tillers of the soil. If you don't believe it, read the literature sent out by the farmers from No. 11 Wall street. It is great stuff, but it was never grown on a farm.

For the second time a grand jury has condemned the county infirmary buildings as a public disgrace. So they are to a wealthy and populous civilized community. They are not only unsuitable and insanitary, but are unsafe, being constructed of inflammable material and far removed from adequate fire extinguishing facilities. The sorry conditions so severely criticized by the grand jury can be remedied by voting to issue bonds for the erection of a new county hospital.

The Do-Nothing Senate.

The readiness of the Senate to take up the Lorimer matter is suspicious. There are differences as to the personnel of the committee that is to conduct the investigation, but all hands are agreed having another investigation. Even Bailey of Texas and Heyburn of Idaho are in accord with the investigating program.

Again we say this is suspicious. There is too much alacrity and unanimity. It looks as if the Lorimer matter was being jumped as an excuse for not taking up something else—that it is being used as a stall against actual legislation.

Perhaps this surmise is wrong, but the Senate has done practically nothing, so far as legislation is concerned, since it convened in session. It has not acted on any of the bills sent over from the House. It has not even taken any of them up for genuine consideration. The bills are resting quietly in committee pigeon-holes, while the Senators sleep late and drop around at 2 o'clock in the afternoon to hear the journal read. Then they doze away the time till dinner. There is nothing to do but take up the matters presented by the House—the things the Senate wishes to ignore; but it is getting busy with the Lorimer case.

NOTHING DOING

Early in the session the House passed the Canadian reciprocity and the reappointment bills, which were legislative matters of the most immediate and vital moment, but it is precisely these measures that the Senate resolutely refuses to consider. A majority of the Senators would like to bury them at the bottom of the sea, but the President and the people are looking. Taft is determined that the Senate shall not give the reciprocity bill knock-out drops, and the people are demanding to know why the Senate is dodging action on the reappointment bill.

The game of pigeon-hole is going to get somebody into trouble if played too long. The country is getting wise to the tactics of delay and indirection. Had the Senators not been too cowardly to act the extra session would have been over by this time.

Diaz has left Mexico, but it is to be hoped that he has left Peace behind.

As we predicted, the Maderoists are taking possession of all the State governments in Mexico, forcing the old officials to resign, and filling their places with revolutionists. This was to have been expected, for revolutions do not go backward or halt when half successful. The Diaz regime has been overthrown by armed rebellion, and the revolutionists will never feel safe till they have ousted from positions of power and trust all the adherents of the old dictator. The logic of the situation, the imperious law of necessity, compels the revolutionists to go forward and seize every instrument of power.

The dynamite business is not to be encouraged in this community. It makes no difference who the dynamiter intends to blow up, his work is atrocious and deserves short shift.

TRADE OF WORLD NAVIES

The greatest naval pageant in the history of the world will be the most spectacular feature of the ceremonies incident to the opening of the Panama canal. The President has been authorized by Congress to invite all foreign powers to participate in a great naval parade, which will insure not only representation of every navy in large numbers, but each country will send its largest and best ships. The spectacle will be the sight of a lifetime.

The fleets will assemble in Hampton Roads and proceed up the Chesapeake bay and Potomac river to Washington, where a formal call will be made upon the President of the United States. On their return the President will review the fleets from his yacht, which will be stationed at the Virginia Capes; then this vast armada will sail southward and pass through the Panama canal as part of the official opening program. By no means the least interesting part of the announcement is the continued cruise of the combined fleets to San Francisco, during the Panama canal opening celebration. This will furnish an attraction which no international exposition has ever had, and will enable thousands of people who cannot get to the Atlantic coast to enjoy the tripping sight of the greatest assemblage of fighting ships ever brought together in the history of the world.—Popular Mechanics.

CHOICE OF A CAREER

An English father consulted a friend as to what career he ought to select for his son, a boy of ten.

The friend thought the matter over for a bit and then advised the father as follows: "Look your boy in a room where there is a Bible on the table, an apple and some pieces of money. After a quarter of an hour open the door noiselessly and see what the boy is doing. If he is reading the Bible make him a clergyman; if his attention is concentrated on the apple, make him a farmer, and if he is amusing himself by counting the money it's plain that he is meant to be a financier."

The experiment was tried, and when the friend inquired what the result was the father replied: "I found him sitting on the Bible, he had pocketed the money and was eating the apple."

"Make him a member of Parliament, then," was the advice of the friend.—London Globe.

RHYMED STUFF

A GOOD REASON:
My Mabel cannot sing a note,
She writes no verses free,
She cannot paint a little boat
Upon a waveless sea.

But friend, I bid you, do not pause
And say with knowing look:
'He loves his Mabel just because
'She certainly can cook!'

It is not that she cooks, Oh, no!
That wins her place so high—
I can and do love Mabel so
Because she doesn't try!—Puck.

SALVATION BY MAGAZINE

James G. Cannon, a New York bank president, told members of the Omaha Ministerial Union the other day that the magazines are to cease muck-raking and turn their attention to religion.

"Of there is not the greatest ingathering in the churches," he said, "it will be the fault of the men of the churches, for we are going to have the subject of religion so played up that the man who wants to promulgate religion will not have a single excuse for failing to get busy among his friends and neighbors. Any fool can find fault, but the country is tired and the time has come to call a halt in the muck-raking campaign."

If the magazines of the muck-raking type decide to take up religion as their principal theme, instead of violent and indiscriminate abuse of American institutions, corporations and public men, it will be for business reasons only and not for the sake of humanity.

To religious minds there is something repugnant in the idea of thus exploiting or "playing up" a sacred subject. The notion of "frenzied religion" through the medium of a 15-cent publication with a million of readers is not reassuring to the multitude of quiet, old-fashioned God-fearing folk in this country. Cannon says that after religion has effectively "played up" by the muck-rakers there will be no excuse for church members failing to "get busy" among their associates and spreading the propaganda. But is there any excuse now?

The magazine men who have been howling that everybody, except a select coterie of reformers, is bad and that the country is going to the dogs, are no likely now to discover any new and beautiful truths that will aid in turning sinners from destruction. What good can be expected from sensationalizing salvation. It will be observed that the magazines did not cease muck-raking so long as it was profitable. Now that "the country is tired" of that sort of thing, they are going to have a snappy series on religion instead. The scriptural injunction is to be "fishers of men," but the magazines, as usual, seem bent on catching "suckers."—Fitchburg Gazette-Times.

TEACHING MUSIC IN GERMANY

So many young Americans are sent to Germany to study music that some facts brought to light at the Congress of Music now being held in the Reichstag building, Berlin, may be worth placing on record here. Complaints are loud just now in Germany about the condition of the music-teaching profession, its low social status, its poor remuneration and its overproduction of teachers.

A picture of the social misery of music teachers was presented in a paper read by Dr. Hans Staub, who declared that there are music teachers who work for a remuneration, a farmhand would refuse, and he urged the necessity of intervention by the state. The result of an overcrowded profession, Dr. Staub said, was a mushroom growth of bogus institutes.

In some of these tuition is given free on condition that a violin is purchased, the pupil paying 75 cents a month for one lesson a week and getting a violin free at the end of the year. Another "institute" goes it one better. It gives every tenth pupil a violin gratis and every hundredth pupil a rosewood piano. This Dr. Staub thought was relatively harmless compared with the abuse of the designation "conservatorium." There are 100 "conservatoriums" in Berlin alone, and Dr. Staub named one with 400 pupils where a lad of 14 teaches music for fifty-six hours a week for $7.50 a month, expecting to rise to a maximum of $25 a month. He gets 6 cents an hour for overtime.

A queer thing is that in Germany, where so much attention is paid to titles, anybody can call himself a professor of music, and this, the lecturer said, would have to be remedied if the profession of music teaching were to be saved from utter degradation.—New York Sun.

20 YEARS AGO IN OAKLAND

A party of Oaklanders enjoyed a real old fashioned "Down East Clambake" on Angel Island yesterday on the invitation of Captain Davis of the good American schooner, Governor Ames. The following were present: J. W. Tompkins, R. M. Fitzgerald, Bert G. Leonard, Captain Gardner, J. H. Ames, Ed Harris, Prentice Hutchinson, Phil Remillard, W. E. Bond, J. C. Wilson Jr., C. L. Dam, Arthur Pope, L. Harris, H. Wilson, Arthur Spear, C. Matthews, W. Middleton, John Middleton, H. B. Underhill, H. Morris, Captain Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Burr, Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Gaskill, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Tuttle, Miss Ada Dougherty, Mrs. N. Powell, Miss M. Fitzgerald, Miss Emily Chappell, Miss Mabel Andrews and Miss Sophie Chappell.

Duncan Maverick was thrown from his horse on Riverside drive January 3, picked up unconscious by Charles Ritter and taken to the Ritter home, says a New York telegram. Yesterday he married Mr. Ritter's youngest daughter, Alice. They will spend the summer at Monmouth beach and return to the Maverick home in Oakland early in the fall.

The Y. M. C. A. Improvement Association was formed Friday afternoon in Meek's beautiful grove in San Lorenzo. Neal McGrath was elected president and H. F. McGrath secretary. The association proposes to make the town bloom. Addresses were made by Charles H. Smith and P. M. Fisher.

The following Oaklanders are traveling in different parts of the country: W. H. High, Colonel John P. Irish and family, Miss Jennie Dyer, Mrs. A. S. Moore, H. M. Coley, Victor Metcalf, Mrs. Fred Osgood, S. P. Hall, Miss Sadie P. Willard, Rev. George W. Sweeney and Mrs. Sweeney, Mrs. H. J. Lee and Miss Elsie Lee, H. O. Troubridge and family, Principal J. F. Chandler of the Franklin school, Superintendent of Schools J. W. McQuinn, Rev. George B. Riemann, William E. Johns.

That "organization" called the United Press has a correspondent in this city who should first be kicked and then charged. This is what he sent out regarding the theater proposition: "It is reported here that Joseph Macdonough was ready to build a theater when some enterprising speculators said that they could make $10,000 easily by getting people to subscribe that amount through telling them that the theater would not be built unless it was subscribed." That is the talk of the slurs that oppose everything in the line of progress, while they stand on one-side quibbling and whining.

The raising of over $5000 in less than a week as a bonus for an improvement in which the entire city is to benefit shows the temper of the people. They are for improvement. They want to see Oakland go ahead in everything that goes to make an attractive city.

The school census Marshall J. P. Smith of Alameda has figured out that there are 11,390 people in that city. Yesterday there the police arrested three people for drunkenness.

EXERCISES TO BE HELD ON JUNE 2

Diplomas to Be Granted to a Large Class at Oakland High School.

The Alumni Association of the Oakland High School is planning its fourth annual banquet and meeting to be held tomorrow evening at the St. Mark hotel. From previous indications this will be the largest reunion yet held, and the committee in charge of arrangements is working hard to make it the most successful.

Several of the older classes are planning their own reunions, after which they will join the others at supper. A program, contributed by the alumni, will provide entertainment during the banquet. At this meeting an amendment to the constitution will be proposed which, if passed, will make a great change in the amount of the scholarship, which it is the chief aim of the association to maintain. Heretofore the yearly scholarships have been of $100; this year $125 will be given. If the amendment passes, the scholarship will amount to either $200 or $250 per annum.

ANY ONE ELIGIBLE.

Any graduate of the Oakland High School wishing to pursue his studies at the university, is eligible to become a candidate for the scholarship.

The committee in charge have not been able to locate many of the older alumni, so any of these who desire to come will be gladly welcomed, and can arrange for places at the banquet by notifying the secretary at the high school.

The graduating exercises will be held Friday evening, June 2, at 8 p. m., in Chabot Observatory hall, after which the graduating class of this term will join with the older alumni in a banquet at the St. Mark hotel.

BAKER TOASTMASTER.

C. F. Baker of the class of '78 will be toastmaster. Among the speakers are: Dr. James H. Pond, a former principal; Mr. McChesney, the first principal; and Mr. Koyne, the present principal of the school; Harry Guttersen, '03, will make a short talk, and Kenneth Hobart of the graduating class will say a few words.

Several former students will entertain in various ways and many surprises are in store for those who attend. Harold Oliver is president of the association and Floyd R. Gray is chairman of the banquet committee. Others assisting to make the affair a success are Miss Orton, Walter Graves, Miss Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baker, Mr. Fisher, Mrs. Oliver and Miss Kely.

CHILD-BEATING HIS

FAVORITE PASTIME

Leon Compton was arrested by the Oakland police last night and booked on a charge of disturbing the peace. He had written several letters to Mrs. Clara Urquhart, head of the baby home at 111 Eighteenth street, who was in court recently on a charge of child-beating, asking the woman that he be allowed to rent a room in her house that he might watch her inflicting corporal punishment upon the children. He also telephoned Mrs. Urquhart.

His actions were reported to the police and he was last night arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace. No complaint has been sworn to, and his case was put over to tomorrow morning by Judge Mortimer Smith this morning.

Compton claims to be a salesman and gives 466 Pacific building, San Francisco, as his business address.

JEW TO CELEBRATE

FEAST OF PENTECOST

The Rev. Benjamin Meyerovitz will conduct the services next Friday morning celebrating the Feast of Pentecost at the Beth Jacob synagogue, Ninth and Castro streets. The sermon will be delivered at 9:30, the subject being "The Inheritance of Jacob." There will be musical services Saturday morning at 10.

WRIGHT ACQUITTED

OF ASSAULT CHARGE

Moses Wright, colored, was acquitted last night by a jury in the criminal department of the superior court of criminal assault upon Mary Lucile Wright, his white foster daughter, whom he and his wife brought from Honolulu.

EXHIBIT OF SCHOOL

WORK BEING HELD

ALAMEDA, June 1.—An exhibit of school work including manual training, art and domestic science, was held at the new Haight school building today and will continue tomorrow in the morning and 10 o'clock in the afternoon.

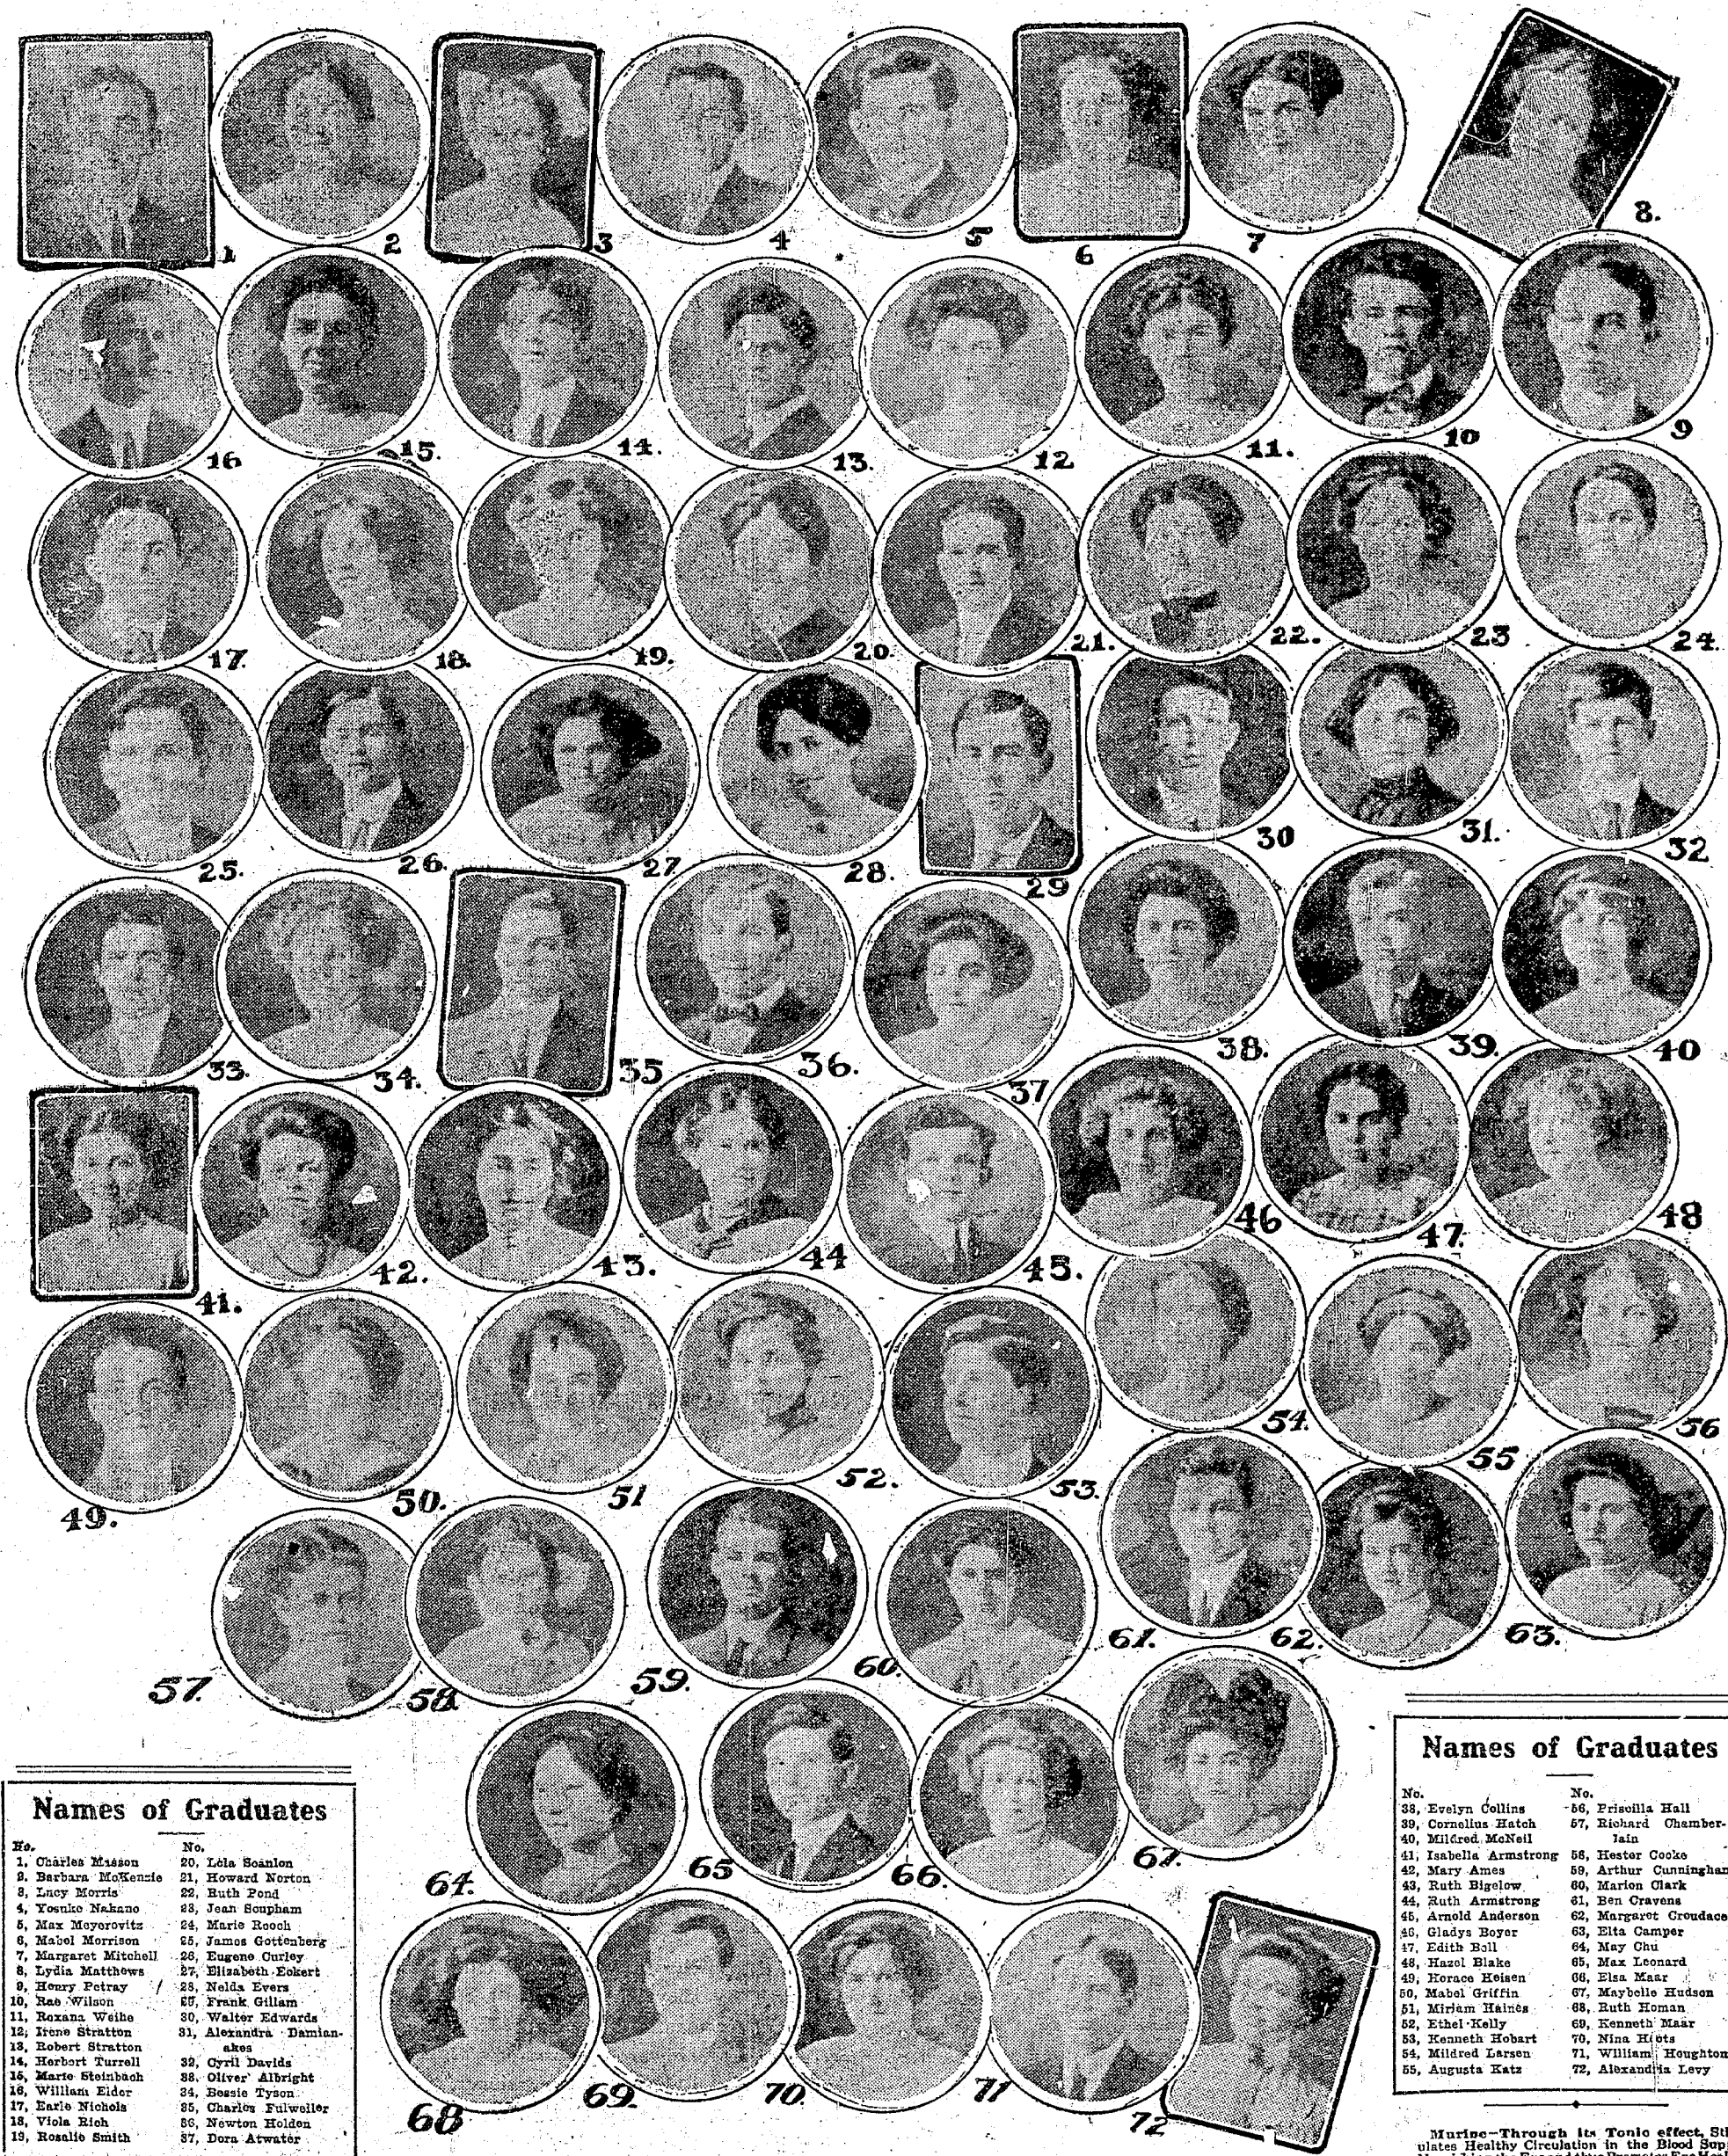

Superintendent of Schools Will C. Wood has sent invitations to the parents of school children asking them to inspect the exhibit. The public is asked to attend the exhibit.

RUN DOWN BY AUTO.

While crossing East Fourteenth street at Seventy-third avenue, last evening, K. Kunitomi of 3353 Sixty-fifth avenue, was run down by an automobile. He was taken to his home by friends, and it was found that he was not slightly injured. The driver of the automobile is not known. The auto number is 14725.

DESIGNED MANY PRIVATE PARKS

John Flanagan, Landscape Gardener, Dies in Berkeley at Advanced Age.

BERKELEY, June 1.—John Flanagan, a retired landscape gardener and father of Mrs. W. H. Gentry, wife of an attorney with offices in Oakland, died early this morning at the home of his daughter, 1747 Delaware street, at the age of 86 years. The effects of a stroke of apoplexy, suffered several months ago, aggravated by stomach trouble, caused his death.

With his wife, who survives him, he has resided with the Gentrys since coming to Berkeley about twelve years ago from Cambridge, Mass., where he had lived for forty years. He was a native of Ireland. During his residence in Cambridge he designed some of the most beautiful private parks in New England.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning. Requiem high mass will be celebrated at St. Joseph's church, of which he was a member, at 9:30 o'clock. Rev. F. X. Morrison, pastor, will officiate.

CHILDREN PRESENT 'SYLVIA' OPERETTA

Sixty Pupils of the Washington Lower High School, Berkeley, Render Music.

BERKELEY, June 1.—The first public appearance of the Washington lower high school glee club took place last night in the Berkeley high school auditorium, the operetta "Sylvia" being presented. The club, of which Miss Margaret Doellin is president, had been trained for the production by Miss Ethel Pearl, Graham musical director of the school. The operetta was composed of choruses, solos and duets, eighteen musical numbers being given. Miss Mabel Brown acted as accompanist.

HAS ARM AMPUTATED.

BERKELEY, June 1.—Chris Brunk, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Brunk, 1808 Bancroft way sustained injuries which required the amputation of his left arm at a dredging and power plant in the southern part of the San Joaquin Valley, according to word received by the parents.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS GRADUATE PUPILS

Exercises to Be Held in Three Institutions of Berkeley, Beginning Tonight.

BERKELEY, June 1.—Thirty-one pupils of Le Conte grammar school will receive their diplomas at the graduating exercises this evening. Classes of the eighth grade will also be graduated at the Lincoln and Franklin schools with exercises tomorrow evening.

The program at Le Conte school tonight will be as follows:

Selection by orchestra; chorus, "Gipsy Song" (Roumanian folk song), by class; invocation, Rev. R. S. Eastman; chorus, "We Shall Feed His Flock Like a Shepherd" (Händel), by class; presentation of class by J. A. Imrie, principal; song, "Stars of the Summer Night," by the boys' quartet; address, M. C. James, secretary of the board of education; vocal solo, "All Through the Night," by Milton Hayes; class offering by May Dornin; song, "Cradle Song" (Neidlinger), by the girls' chorus; presentation of diplomas by M. C. James; chorus, "The Beautiful Blue Danube" (Strauss), by the class, closing selection by the orchestra.

The graduates will be: Henry Amlett, Pauline Amlett, Lucille Beasley, Mabel Bennett, Jennie Benson, William Callaghan, Mabel Corvates, Jessie Coates, Roy Dable, May Dornin, Hugh Gan, Milton Hayes, Lillian Hegarty, Viola Hinchman, Percy Whitton, Aubrey Irwin, Walter Jensen, Narcis Jimenez, Esther Lee, Marie Lilla, Ida Lutgen, Clarke Maltice, Herbert Messersmith, Andrew McFarland, Elise Pluttl, Fred Potter, Ruby Randall, Alvan Small, Lillian Steindorff, Herbert Strehl.

SEYMOUR FIGHT AT A STANDSTILL

Quiet Reigns But There's 'Blood in the Eye' of Police Chief.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Following the latest move of Chief of Police Seymour in blocking the board of police commissioners and restraining them from trying him until after Judge Seawell determines the legal facts involved, comparative quiet reigns on both sides this morning. Up to noon Attorney Theodore Bell had not gone to any of the higher courts for a writ which might interfere with the decision of the superior tribunal.

Chief Seymour is resting on his oars and seems content with the situation. There is fight in his eye, however, and there seems every indication that there will be a fight to the finish between attorneys on both sides before the chief is actually placed on trial by the board.

MRS. HUME TO SPEAK

AT THE ROTARY CLUB

The regular weekly luncheon of the Tri-City Rotary Club was held at 12:30 today at the Forum cafe. Following the luncheon plans were outlined for an increase in membership campaign under the direction of a committee of which H. Schleuter is chairman.

For the luncheon of next Thursday, June 3, the subject for discussion will be "Woman's Contribution to the City's Expansion," and two speakers will address the club on the subject, Mrs. James B. Hume, former ex-president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, from the standpoint of the women, and M. J. Laette of New Zealand from man's standpoint. On the Thursday following William Butterfield, superintendent of the California Cotton Mills, will speak on the cotton industry.

CHAMBERS ENDS HIS

RATE CASE TESTIMONY

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—In the hearing on San Joaquin Valley rates before the state railroad commission today, Traffic Manager E. C. Chambers completed his testimony. He was followed by Attorney Emmons, representing the Bakersfield shippers. Emmons declared that although the trade of the territory comprised in the oil fields had increased enormously during the past ten years, freight rates remained the same.

N. Y. NURSES RESIGN IN BODY RESIGNATION, WORK OF ART

NEW YORK, June 1.—The Brooklyn Eye and Ear Hospital is today seeking an entirely new staff of nurses. The old staff resigned in a body last night as a protest against a rule recently posted denying them the privilege of receiving telephone calls from their gentlemen friends.

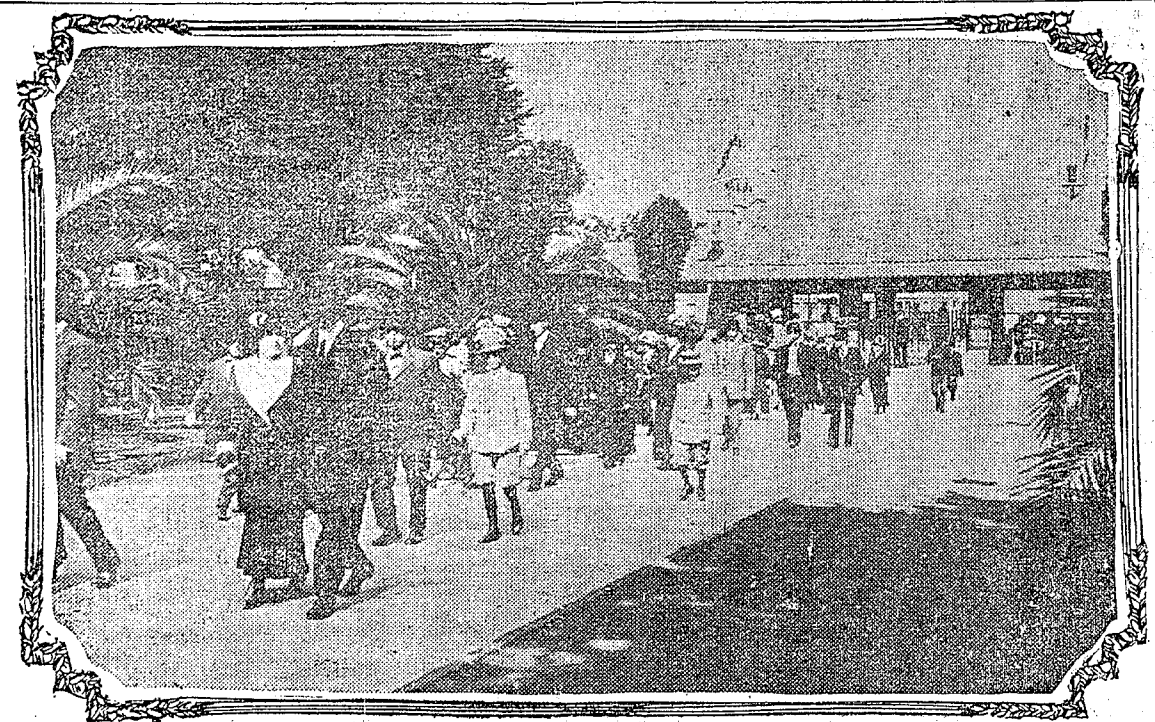

The letter of resignation, signed by all the nurses, was a work of art. It was done in Old English script on Japanese vellum, hand-ruled and all in rhymed verse. It began:

"Of the mastoid bone and the catarract,
And the nose that was blocked with a rusty tack;
Of cancers and tumors we'll have no more,
Nor of skilled applications to the skin that is sore.
The reason is simple, it happens this way:
The nurses are tired and will leave right away."

FUN FOR EVERYONE ON TRIBUNE DAY

Scene in Idora Park, where the public will on Tuesday next be entertained free of charge by The Tribune. The portrait is that of Richard Lindenhay, French horn soloist of Conway's band, now at the park.

Old and Young to Enjoy Frolic All Day and in the Evening

TICKETS BY MAIL

People residing in outside towns, or residents of this city, may procure tickets for TRIBUNE DAY at Idora Park, Tuesday next, by making application by mail to the office of THE TRIBUNE and enclosing a stamp. The tickets of admission will be mailed immediately. No requests for tickets of admission will be received over the telephone. People who are not able to reach the offices of THE TRIBUNE, where the tickets may be procured, may use the mails for the purpose, in the manner indicated.

The popularity of the offer of THE TRIBUNE to entertain its friends at Idora Park next Tuesday, free of expense to those friends, was attested yesterday by the unprecedented demand for free tickets of admission to the park by the friends of this paper.

TICKETS IN DEMAND.

There are half a dozen places in Oakland, namely, the main office and the branch offices of THE TRIBUNE, at which these tickets may be had. Yesterday, at every one of these places, thousands of these tickets of admission were bestowed upon people who stood in line waiting for the gratuity. The demand was in excess of any ever experienced by THE TRIBUNE in any of its former and successful efforts to entertain the people of this city.

The ticket of admission which is given by THE TRIBUNE, and which is supplemented at the gate of Idora Park by the presentation of six other tickets of admission to concessions on the grounds, to say nothing of a bag of peanuts and whistles and other toys which will be given to children, represent at the lowest estimate a value of 75 cents, which is given for nothing.

THREE CLASSES OF TICKETS.

The tickets are divided into three classes. There is a series which secures admission during the morning. There is another series for the afternoon and a third series for the night. If you use a morning ticket, the concessions ticket which you receive with it must be used during the morning. At the same time, on your morning ticket you may remain in the park the whole day. If you enter Idora on an afternoon ticket the concessions tickets which you receive at the entrance can be used only during the afternoon. They will not be good in the concessions in the evening.

The tickets for the evening will not be good save during the evening. That is, they will not be accepted for entrance during the morning nor afternoon. This plan has been devised so that there will not be an overcrowding of the concessions.

By patronizing the concessions the time called for by your ticket, this overcrowding will be avoided and the pleasure of

THE TRIBUNE guests will be all the more increased.

DAY FOR PUBLIC WARD.

It is the desire of THE TRIBUNE, on Tuesday next, to afford every opportunity to the managers of the orphan asylums and other refuges of little ones to enjoy themselves on TRIBUNE DAY at Idora Park. The managers of such institutions, on application at any of the places where the tickets are to be dispensed, will be given a number of tickets corresponding with the number of inmates under their charge, and these tickets will be free of expense. When their little charges present themselves at the gate, they will be given six concession tickets each.

It is understood to be the intention of a number of clubs and social organizations to attend Idora Park on TRIBUNE DAY in a body. Several such clubs have already made application for tickets, and the requests have been granted.

TICKETS BY MAIL.

Residents of this city and other places who may be out of town at the present time, and who may desire to take in the outing, may do so by making application to this office through the mails, and sending a self-addressed, stamped return envelope.

The number of tickets required will be placed in the return envelope and forwarded to their destination in time to enable the applicants to make use of them on next Tuesday, either during the morning, afternoon or evening. In connection with free admission and the concession tickets THE TRIBUNE will give $100 worth of prizes to people among the crowd. Five of these prizes will consist of merchandise orders on leading firms of this city, which will be cashed upon presentation to the several firms. The other five will comprise an elegant rocking chair, a fine hall clock, a beautiful set of dishes, a most serviceable fountain pen and a kitchen set.

This will enhance the value of the offer made by THE TRIBUNE to its friends. But this is not all that is to be expected. There is also to be a vaudeville performance in the amphitheater in which are to take part some of the finest professional entertainers at the present time in the vaudeville theaters of this city.

FUN FOR ALL.

While music will resound from the precincts of the pavilion, there will be noise of all kinds, not quite so musical, perhaps, but at the same time of a no less joyous character, in all parts of the grounds, because, aside from the offerings of THE TRIBUNE, the management of Idora Park is to bestow upon the little people whistles, horns and other means of producing noise, together with flags, fans, miniature flying machines and at least 5000 bags of peanuts.

The procurement of this amount of peanuts is no small undertaking, but the management decided to leave nothing undone to cater to the enjoyment of the little folks.

There is no feature above enumerated which is not, in itself, worth at least 50 cents, and in some instances a great deal more. This is especially true of the performance of the Conway band. The story of Frank Conway's rise from the leader of the top-notch "town band" in a little hamlet near Ithaca, N. Y., to a director of the most popular organization of its kind in America, is most interesting indeed. When but a boy, still in his teens, Conway took his country band to Ithaca to compete in a band concert given at a firemen's convention.

Little Conway "delivered the goods," however, for he proudly marched home with the first prize. Shortly after the town of Ithaca subsidized the band and Conway was selected to be director and instructor. At the same time, he was given a position at Cornell University, situated at Ithaca, as instructor of the cadet band.

CONWAY'S BAND.

At present, Conway is yearly swamped with offers from managers of parks, fairs, hotels and all sorts of amusement places. It is impossible for him to fill all of these engagements, and Conway only takes those where he will appear before the largest audiences. His favorite places are Young's Pier, at Atlantic City, where he often stays an entire season; the famous Willow Grove Park in Philadelphia, which caters only to educated musicians, and Idora Park in this city, where, two seasons ago, he traveled 12,000 miles to fill two engagements.

Conway's season at Idora Park is gradually drawing to a close, but among the magnificent programs which he has rendered thus far, and which he still proposes to render, there are none to excel that which is now getting ready for the delight of the people and the public at Idora Park on TRIBUNE DAY. Idora Park is in itself, by reason of its beauty, a source of enjoyment, but, when taking into consideration the varied attractions above referred to, it is readily apparent that a more enjoyable place than it on Tuesday next cannot well be imagined.

ADMISSION TICKETS.

Admission tickets may be secured at the following places: The main office of THE TRIBUNE, Eighth and Franklin streets; Broadway branch of THE TRIBUNE, 1114 Broadway; Berkeley branch office of THE TRIBUNE, 248 Shattuck avenue; Alameda branch of THE TRIBUNE, corner of Park street and Santa Clara avenue (Schneider's drug store); Fruitvale branch of THE TRIBUNE, Fruitvale avenue and East Fourteenth street (Dawson's drug store).

TEMPERANCE UNION FAILS TO OUST TEACHER

The Principal Who Spoke of 'Respectable Saloon Keeper' Keeps Job.

SCHOOL BOARD MAKES NEW RULE OF CONDUCT

The Instructors Told to Refrain
From Comparisons That Stir Ill Will.

CHICAGO, June 1.—Miss Grace Reed, principal of the Frances Willard public school, who has incurred the displeasure of temperance organizations by her public utterances some months ago that a "respectable saloonkeeper is just as respectable as a respectable banker," will not lose her position, for the board of education yesterday denied the petition of the Hyde Park Women's Christian Temperance Union to have her dismissed from the service.

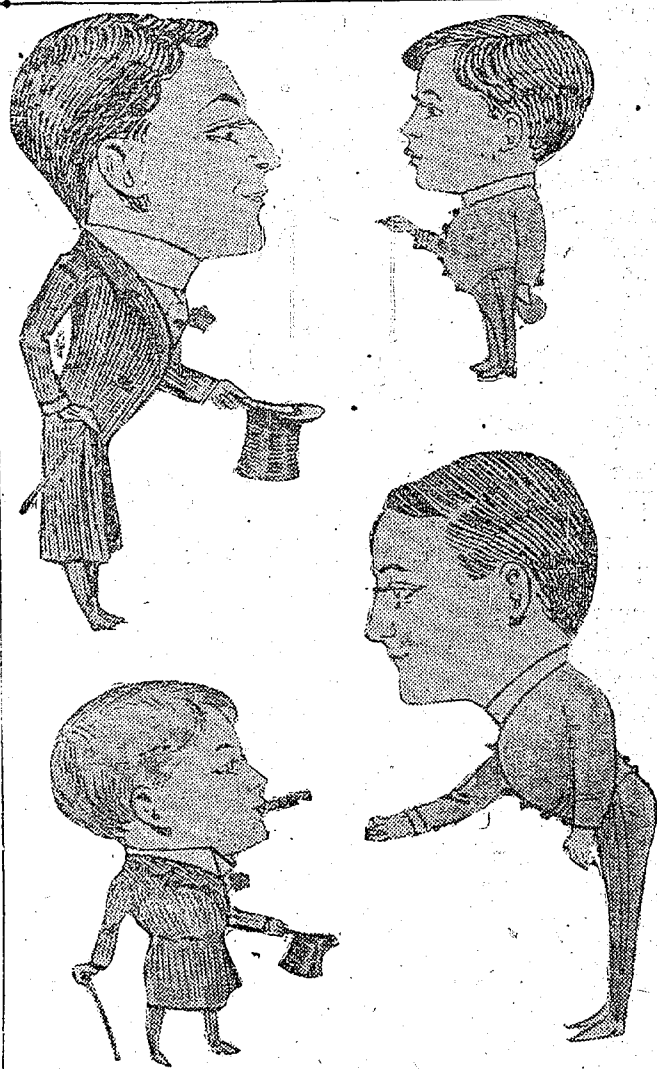

The Hyde Park branch of the women's organization argued that as Miss Frances Willard was the founder and organizer of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and had been honored by the city of Chicago in naming the school for her, "the placing of Miss Reed in charge of that particular school was an insult directed at the organization and at womanhood in general."

The committee of the board of education reported that there was nothing upon which the petition of the temperance union could be granted, but it reported a rule to guide teachers in the future. The new rule follows:

"The principals and teachers in the public schools of Chicago should always refrain from making public any comparison likely to incur ill-will or hatred between classes of citizens as regards religion, race, nationality or occupation."

DIES AT 88; HANGED 88.
FORT SMITH, Ark., June 1.—George Maledon, 88 years old, former government executioner here, died yesterday at the Soldiers' Home in Johnson City, Tenn., of paralysis. Maledon is said to have hanged more men than any other executioner in the United States. During the twenty years he served here he officiated at the hanging of eighty-eight men.

Don't Grow Old Too Fast

"A man is as old as his arteries." Old age is merely a hardening of the arteries—and hardening of the arteries comes from excessive eating of high-protein food such as meat and eggs. Cut down the high-protein diet for awhile and eat Shredded Wheat. It supplies all the body-building material in the whole wheat prepared in a digestible form. Of course will not "cure" appendicitis—nor will any other cereal food. The excessive eating of indigestible foods, however, gradually brings on stomach and bowel disorders—and these can be prevented by a daily diet of thoroughly cooked cereals. Shredded Wheat is best for this purpose because it is steam-cooked, shredded and twice baked, retaining the bran coat, which is so valuable in keeping the bowels healthy and active.

Heat the Biscuit in the oven to restore crispness and serve with hot or cold milk and a little cream, adding salt or sugar to suit the taste. It also makes delicious combinations with stewed or preserved fruits. Two Shredded Wheat biscuits with stewed fruit makes a wholesome nourishing meal.

JACK JOHNSON PACKS FOR THE CORONATION

CHICAGO, June 1.—Chicago tailoring establishments will be pushed to their capacity this week. The reason is Jack Johnson. The champion, unexpected and unheralded, arrived in town last night to make final preparations for his trip to England, where he expects to join in the coronation festivities.

Naturally, he wishes to be properly attired and has placed orders for twenty suits and a startling number of hats and caps of various styles and colors. Johnson superintended the construction of an assortment of wearing apparel. Consequently, when he starts across the water his trunks will be burdened with at least fifty suits of clothing.

On his last visit to Chicago the big yellow superintended the construction of several theatrical contracts. He has completed arrangements for an automobile trip from New York to St. Louis via Chicago. He will appear at theaters in big towns along the route. His remuneration for the work will be $150 a week and 65 per cent of the theatrical receipts.

NEWSPAPERMAN TO WED.
VALLEJO, June 1.—W. B. Palmer of the Vallejo Daily Times and Miss Madeleine Jewett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Jewett, will be married in this city Wednesday, June 28.

MRS. W. H. METSON DIES AFTER AN OPERATION

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Mrs. William H. Metson, wife of the attorney of this city, died at an early hour yesterday at the Mount Zion hospital, where she was operated upon about a week ago. Mrs. Metson had passed through the operation and was considered out of danger. Her husband left Tuesday for a business trip to Seattle.

The death of Mrs. Metson occurred so suddenly that there was no time even to take her 16-year-old son, Wilfred, to her side. Mrs. Metson formerly was Miss Josephine Kercheval, a member of the pioneer family of that name of the Sacramento valley. No arrangements for the funeral service will be made until the return of Metson.

INCOME LEFT DAUGHTER.
NEW YORK, June 1.—The will of Richard A. Clark, a wealthy lawyer, and writer on Roman Catholic subjects, who died 2 weeks ago, leaves the large income on his residuary estate to his daughter, Mary Ada Clark. "So long as she shall remain in the world and not become a member of any monastic or religious sisterhood or other institution or community,"

CONTRACT LET FOR NEW SANTA CLARA COLLEGE

SANTA CLARA, June 1.—Today was an epoch-making day for the old Mission town of Santa Clara, for there was formally recorded the first contract of the new Santa Clara college. The contract was awarded to David E. Graham of San Francisco and W. D. Shea of the same city, is the architect.

The structure to be begun without delay will be known as the Administration building. It will be located south of the ancient Mission church of Santa Clara. The frontage will be 200 feet, the depth 40 feet, the material reinforced concrete and the style mission. Plans will be drawn immediately for the Senior hall for the older students, and it is contemplated that all the old college buildings will within the next three years be replaced by large and beautiful modern structures. The commencement of these immense building operations means redoubled prosperity for the Mission town.

MORE POSTAL BANKS.
WASHINGTON, June 1.—Postmaster-General Hitchcock has announced the designation of seventy-four more second-class postoffices scattered in forty-one States, as postal savings depositories, effective June 27. The following are among the number: Corona, Park Valley and San Luis Obispo, Cal.

TAFT HEARS CALL OF THE DIAMOND

President Will Go to Chicago
Ahead of Time to See
Ball Game.

CHICAGO, June 1.—President Taft will arrive in Chicago Saturday two hours earlier than his original plans called for, according to a dispatch from Washington last night. This was taken to mean that the nation's chief executive will try to find time to attend the baseball game between the Cubs and the Giants.

As soon as Charles C. Murphy, president of the Cubs, heard of the change in the President's plans, which will land him here at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, he telegraphed an invitation for Taft and members of his party to occupy a box at the game.

The principal object of the President's visit is to discuss "Canadian reciprocity" before the Western Economic Society. He has received invitations to several other affairs, and it is expected that he will be a luncheon guest of the Irish Fellowship Club immediately upon his arrival.

CARNEGIE REFUSES TO ANSWER GATES

LONDON, June 1.—Andrew Carnegie reached London yesterday and drove with his wife and daughter to the Colburn Hotel, a quiet and ultra-fashionable hostelry, where he kept indoors all afternoon and evening, refusing to see callers.

Carnegie said to a correspondent at Paddington station: "I do not want to say anything about steel. No, I won't make any answer to Gates' remark that I was like a bull in a china shop. I've heard very little about the inquiry, but when I go back to New York I am prepared to give my testimony if required."

In the Wake of the Measles.
The little son of Mrs. O. B. Palmer, Little Rock, Ark., had the measles. The result was a severe cough which grew worse and he could not sleep. She says: "One bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound completely cured him and he has never been bothered since. Croup, whooping cough, measles cough all yield to Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. The genuine is in the yellow package always. Refuse substitutes. Wishart's Drug Store, Tenth and Washington streets."

MRS. 'DUXIE' DUNN ASKS $250,000 TO MEND HEART

Former Mrs. Rosenbaum Says Rival Stole Spouse's Affections.

NEW YORK, June 1.—A suit for $250,000 damages for alleged alienation of affections has been begun in the Supreme Court by Mrs. Sarah Stella Hastings Holme, wife of former Judge Leicester Holme. Mrs. Dunn charges Mrs. Holme with winning the affections of James F. Dunn, at present head of a novelty agency in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Dunn was "Duxie" Rosenbaum of San Francisco before she married Dunn. Rosenbaum killed himself and his wife soon wedded Dunn. When trouble came later on Dunn alleged that he had been induced to marry the widow by her offer to put up $50,000 for the purchase of the Savoy hotel in San Francisco.

Mrs. Holme came to San Francisco and she and Dunn left the city about the same time. He said he was merely acting as her secretary.

Empress Eugenie Made History

EMPERESS EUGENIE, who has just celebrated her eighty-fifth birthday.

LONDON.—The recent 85th birthday anniversary of the Empress Eugenie, who shared the throne with the last emperor of France and contributed as fashion's arbiter to the pomp and glory of the last days of the French monarchy, again leads to stories of this charming lady, who, bereft of fortune and power, is quietly living out her allotted span of life in a half-forgotten, little house at Farnborough.

This charming, frail, white-haired old lady whose wit is still keen and whose spirit is still strong, and whose courage has always been great, lives in a dream-world of old ghosts and memories. To the present generation the fall of the French empire seems to belong to ancient history, and the dust of time and forgetfulness seems to have fallen upon the pages in which its blunders and tragedy are written. The world has moved on since Napoleon III introduced his bride to the French senate and legislative assembly. After the disaster at Sedan, France rose from the ashes of its ruins with new hope and vigor, and the new France seems to have but little in common with its second empire. New men and new manners have come to rule.

SPANISH BLOOD.

The daughter of the Count de Montijo, and grand-daughter of a Kirkpatrick of Dumfriesshire, she had the hot blood of the Spanish race, the clear brain and brave heart of the Scottish strain. She was 28 years of age when she married the middle-aged emperor, and her lustrous Southern spirit and youthful gaiety charmed those who were tempted to be her swains. She was the greatest lady in a court which was extravagant in its brilliant pageantry.

Paris was supreme in intellectual renown, crowded with men and women of genius, free in its entertainment to all who could add to its interest or knowledge of amusement. The empress was the patroness of art and letters, as of fashion and beauty. For a time Napoleon's foreign policy seemed brilliant in its success, and the empress shared his prestige in Europe. But corruption was eating into the heart of the military administration, and political adventurers were a danger to the state, until at last the empire was dragged to the edge of the abyss by the fatal war with Germany.

HER PART IN HISTORY.

The part that the empress played in that time of disaster belongs to history. When the crash came, she fled to England, where she was joined at Chislehurst in Kent by the exiled emperor, who lived there until his death in 1879. Their hopes were centered in their son, the Prince Imperial, a lad of promise and courage. Volunteering to serve with the English army in the Boer war, he was killed on June 20, 1900, in a battle near Mafeking. It was a tragic blow to the Empress Eugenie, and she retired then into a life of very close seclusion. And as the years passed many royal guests, many great men and women called upon her, staying for a little while with this lady of the old regime, whose conversation unlocked old cupboards of history. The English royal family have always given her their affection, and next to the destiny of France, which still claims her ardent love, she has more enthusiasm for England, the home of her long exile.

Today at 85 years of age, this gracious lady still has the homage of all the people who have been privileged to listen to her charming conversation. Her life has been a tragedy of memories, time has healed the old wounds, and her sadness is like the faint perfume of rose leaves, which brings tears to the eyes of those who loved and lost in the summer of far-off days.

Jealousy Fatal

PITTSBURGH, June 1.—The body of Frank Edson, a merchant, was found late last night in the yard of the residence of John Selden, a co-owner of the house. The body was discovered by a neighbor. The carpet of a bedroom on the second floor was saturated with blood. A trail of blood led down the stairs, through the front hall, across the porch and down the steps to the lawn, where the body of Edson lay.

Selden has disappeared. Mrs. Selden said that her husband went to the Snowden Golf Club to play golf.

The awning over a window of her bedroom became loose in a storm. She said, and she was afraid it would break the window pane. When Edson came along she asked him to fasten the awning.

As the awning was fastened her husband came running up the steps furiously angry at finding her with Edson, of whom he was jealous, knowing him to have been a rival suitor.

She said that he had stuck over the head of Edson, a much smaller man, knocking him down. Edson then ran down the stairs with Selden raining blows on his head with the golf sticks.

Mrs. Selden said she tried to hold her husband back and explain, but he threw her off.

She said Edson fell in the yard, where his body was found.

FAREWELL AFFAIR.

Miss Genevieve O'Kane gave a farewell party to some of the graduates of "Poly" High School at her home on Tuesday evening. Those attending were: Misses Wilma Davis, Martha Jensen, Margaret Moore, Bernice Davis, Jennie Wilson, Mable Herrman, Helene Kirchner, Rose O'Kane, Elaine Smith, Ella Hediger, Emma Morris, Genevieve O'Kane, Messrs. Frank Young, Fred Mann, Harry Spaan, Herman Greenwood, Charles Leavitt, Bruce Dixon, Bobbie Orwig, Harry L. Hereux, Percy Coleman, Arthur O'Kane, Frank Twomey and Frank Carson.

MASQUE DANCES.

Walton Pellatou has issued sixty invitations about the bay for a masque reception and dance to be given at his lakeside residence on Saturday evening, June 10.

SURPRISE PARTY.

Miss Hazel Mokler of Piedmont was given an evening recently which took the form of a surprise party and was attended by:

Misses: Elsie Redpath, Ella Cooke, Anna Floris, Blanche Bohan, Angeline Maschla, Hazel Lawlor, Charlotte Abrahamson, May Malmaga, Mena Malmaga, Reta Murphy, Blanche Haines, Harriett Robinson, Ida Peterson, Loretta Mokler, Hazel Lusch.

Sylvia Ansel, Hazel Mokler, Messrs. Steve Haines, Howard Shone, Charles Black, Harold Sanford, Ralph Boyd, Will Long, Lewis Higgins, Roy Elms, Harris Kern, Fred Bartlett, Henry Bartram, Floyd Baker.

ENTERTAIN MRS. PHEBE HEARST

Mr. and Mrs. John R. McLean entertained in Washington during the week in honor of their house guest, Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst. Invited to meet Mrs. Hearst were Senator and Mrs. Newlands, General and Mrs. Wood, Colonel and Mrs. Lawrence Townsend, Colonel and Mrs. Archibald Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Glover, Mr. Wilkin of the Russian embassy and Miss Dorothy Whitmore.

HOMES THIS MONTH.

Mrs. Ernest Tanner is to be the hostess on June 10 at the first formal meeting held by the recently organized Claremont Club. This club already has about seventy-five members, and is an auxiliary to the Claremont Improvement Club. Mrs. Henry W. Taylor is acting president, and Mrs. S. E. Kieffer secretary.

Woman's Duty at Home, She Declares

PITTSBURGH.—Mrs. Joseph C. De Noon, prominent in society and club circles throughout the state, caused a stir when, in resigning as president of the exclusive New Era Club, she declared that a woman's children and husband should enjoy her undivided attention. She told the members that she thought it was the duty of every woman to devote all time possible to home and family duties.

To emphasize her remarks Mrs. De Noon called her two little girls to her side, and, placing her hands on their heads, said: "I am quitting club life to give these children and my husband all my attention. A woman cannot be an active clubwoman and do her family justice."

DODGE CUPID, SHE SAYS

CHICAGO.—Mrs. Martin de Galdo Parke, ex-wife of Fred Kearney Parke, the rich clubman who accused her in his divorce suit of attending an "affinity dinner," and of undue intimacy with other men, declared that she found it impossible to live on $100 a month alimony, and had decided to go on the stage.

"There is nothing original about getting divorced and going on the stage," said Mrs. Parke at her home, No. 1212 East Fifty-fourth street, "but when one is compelled to struggle along on a paltry $100 a month, it is a question of starving, marrying again or going to work. I have written a vaudeville sketch, made the rounds of the agencies, obtained a leading man, and I am going to work."

"When the still small voice within one insists upon marriage or suicide, the wise virgin should choose the less painful course to Paradise."

"Every time I awake in the morning the newspapers have given me a new husband. I have had only three, and they all acted alike. Husbands seem to be fashionable and a necessity, but they are dreadfully tiresome, especially when they refuse to pay alimony and leave you to starve, marry or work."

: PREFERS HUBBY TO WEALTH :

WASHINGTON.—A 15-year-old bride of twenty-four hours chose her husband instead of a large fortune to which she was heiress, and declared that "under no circumstances would she return to her mother unless her husband was also received."

The bride, Bena Virginia Poling, eloped with Reuben C. Rose, a clerk in the government pension office, after she plied her head high with hair puffs to make her look older, and had escaped her mother by climbing over the back yard fence.

"Bena was to be heiress to a lot of money from her grandfather and from us," declared Mrs. Virgil Poling, her mother, "but she will not get a penny of it while she stays with Rose—not one penny."

"I don't care," was Bena's reply.

Aged 108; Dead

CATALINA ISLAND, June 1.—Dona Sepulveda Redona de Cresado, aged 108 years, is dead here. She had not left the island for forty years. Her 100th birthday anniversary was celebrated by a dip in the surf.

AMBASSADOR'S BALL A SUCCESS.

VIENNA, June 1.—Nearly a score of archdukes and archduchesses, with the entire diplomatic corps and more than two hundred members of the aristocracy gathered at the ball given last night in the American embassy at the first ball given there for years. It was a brilliant function—really a court ball on a small scale.

COUNTRY REAL ESTATE IS NOW IN GREAT DEMAND

FARM AREAS OF ALAMEDA COUNTY MORE PROFITABLE THAN GOLD MINE

LAND OF MILK AND HONEY NEARBY

Products of Soil Bring Wealth to Hundreds of Suburban Oaklanders.

Orchardist and Agriculturist, Dairyman and Vineyardist Live Like Kings.

Whenever, above the clamor of the asphalt heart of the city, you hear the country's insistent call and determine to respond to its witchery, don't, if you are a resident of the about-the-bay section, seek its fascinations and its financial rewards at some point remote from your present abode. No, don't do that. Just jump on a Hayward-bound street car in Oakland, and in forty minutes you will be transported to as God-favored and fertile a farm and orchard area as smiles up at the sun. If your abiding place be far removed from this land where dollars roll in the wake of the plowshare, don't settle definitely upon the location of your country home until you have communicated with one of the Alameda County real estate men, who make a specialty of realty of that character, and have been supplied by him with facts and figures dealing with the superior worth of orchard and vineyard contiguous to Oakland. Then, after that, if you locate elsewhere, well—the loss is yours.

This smiling country that sweeps back from the ship-dotted bay to whose commerce Greater Oakland is the gateway, and varied is the harvest. Vegetables and fruits of every class and climate find therein the soil proper for their nurturing, and under the favorable climatic conditions prevalent during the greater portion of each year, reward well the fostering care of the husbandman. It has been said that no growing thing on earth raised elsewhere—plant, flower, shrub or tree—falls to do as well, and in most cases better, when transplanted in the soil of Alameda county than it did in the soil of its nativity. The formula by which Old Mother Nature prepared the soil of Alameda county included the chemical properties peculiar to the needs of each in just the proper proportions, a fact perennially demonstrated by the abundant yield of forest and field, vineyard and farm, and orchard and berry patch.

MARKET AT THE DOOR.

Convenient to the door of every vineyardist, orchardist, truck gardener, stock raiser and dairyman is a never satiated, never to be satiated market. Oliver Twist-like, the millions of thousands of Oakland appetites for more. Always the farm wagon enters the city freighted high with produce and always they return home empty. Millions of dollars worth of goods annually these farms deposit on Oakland wharves and with Oakland electric men, and yet the demand is far in excess of the supply.

As Oakland grows numerically and commercially the demand for farm products becomes even more intensified, as will likewise the opportunities for farming at excellent profit. No man with a willing pair of hands and a working brain will make a mistake if he buys Alameda county farm land, but if he contemplates so doing he should get action at once for outlying real estate is enhancing very rapidly in value.

The cause of this appreciation is twofold; that is, it is due to the ever increasing demand for farm products and to the ever-increasing encroachment of the city on the country. Greater Oakland having expanded westward to the waterfront is now expanding eastward toward San Leandro and Hayward, and as a result suburban property contiguous to the city and to the electric railways, has come into demand for residence purposes. Nearer the downtown sections acreage once given over to tillers of the soil has recently been subdivided into home sites of proportions scarcely less circumscribed than those in the center of the city itself, such curtailment finding justification in the markedly increased value of the land during recent years. Beyond the Elmhurst section of the city proper, however, much of the farm land has been subdivided into residence sites of from one-half an acre to five acres, the average being probably about one acre. Oakland and suburban real estate men state that these sites, as well as the farther outlying farm lands, meet with a ready sale.

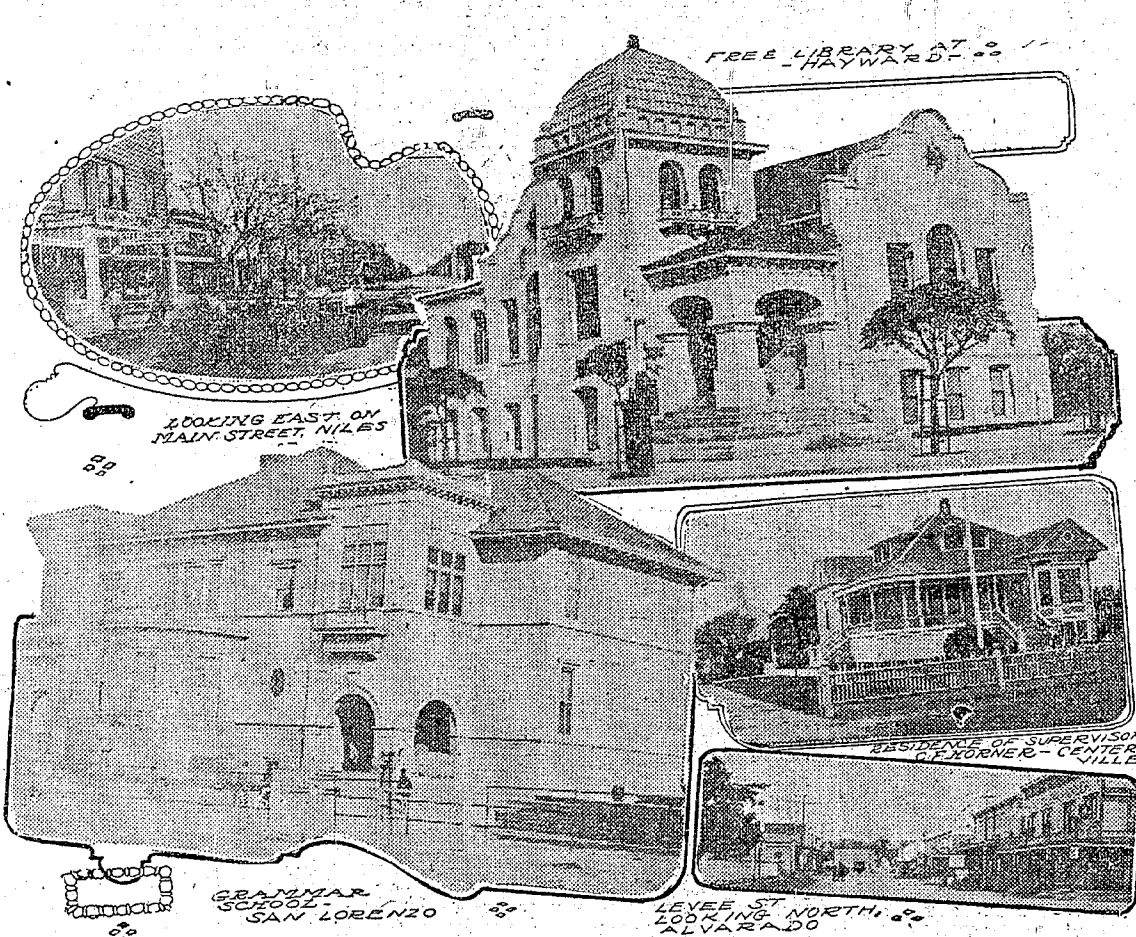

A FEW FARM FIGURES.

Immediately tributary to Oakland is a valley four miles wide that rises gradually from the bay shore to the foothills. The soil is a rich, sandy loam, well suited to the production of all varieties of vegetables, fruits and berries. Its proximity to the bay insures an ample rainfall, thereby making irrigation unnecessary.

Fruits and vegetables grown in this area command a premium over similar irrigated products. Tomatoes and cucumbers grown therein are especially noted for their delicacy of flavor and fetch a premium in both local and interstate markets. Approximately 30,000 tons of tomatoes, having a value of more than $250,000, are raised yearly in the vicinity of the town of Hayward alone. Thousands of acres near that town are given over each year to cucumbers. Many of the farmers plant as much as 100 acres to cucumbers, the entire crop finding an unfailing market at the pickle factory there and in those of Oakland and other bay points.

PEAS AND PIEPLANT.

The low, rolling foothills—spreading from Hayward toward San Jose—are the earliest peas grown in northern California. Their sale price ranges from 5 to 15 cents a pound, and the average yield is four crops to the acre. Really, price considered, what might be called mighty good pickin's for the farmer. The rubber crop, now marketed for this season, is shipped to Eastern cities during February and March by the train load. This appetizing table delicacy yields the grower from $250 to $400 per acre. Pieplant, worth from $50 to $400 an acre; better than most gold mines, isn't it? Within a radius of eight miles of Hayward approximately $1,000,000 worth of garden truck is raised and marketed yearly.

Rural Scenes and Homes Which Demonstrate Independence of Alameda County Farmers.

There is elbow room and opportunity out there for any man who wants to get back to the farm. He'll have to hurry, though, or pay a higher price for the land he may select than is now asked.

VERITABLE GOLDEN FRUIT.

In the area lying between San Leandro and Hayward the fruit trees shower gold. From 15,000 to 20,000 tons of apricots are grown and marketed there annually. The present year, buyers for the canneries are offering $70 a ton for apricots on the trees, and this is a banner year for that fruit in the locality mentioned—although the crop is a total failure in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys, owing to late frosts—the cleanup for the season will compare more than favorably with that of a good many really valuable placer mining propositions. A circumstance which tends to show that the soil has more than one short cut to wealth. Of the apricot yield about 12,000 tons are canned, 30,000 dried and the remainder sold in the fresh state in the markets of Oakland and San Francisco. The current year this year is unusually abundant with apricots it was necessary to knock off at least one-third of the green fruit that the weight of the ripening crop would not prove too heavy for the limbs to support. In a normal year, that is, in a year when the apricot crop is general throughout California, the fruit commands an average price of $40 per ton.

CHERRIES ARE RIPE.

Fruit growers and real estate men in San Leandro—Land of the Cherry and its attendant annual carnival—state that the cherry crop this year is unusually abundant. The citizens of that town are now preparing for the yearly Cherry Carnival, scheduled for June 9 and 10, when the luscious fruit will be given away by the basket to the zenith of its perfection. The county is second only in tonnage and value to the apricot yield, and in the vicinity of the town of San Leandro leads the list of fruits.

It is a fact generally acknowledged that no like acre on earth do you get that on earth—produces a large tonnage nor a better quality of cherries than does that lying between San Leandro and San Jose. The black Tartarian, glowing like a jewel of jet in a setting of green, is there found to the zenith of its perfection. There also is found the Royal Anne, of radiant blush and never-to-be-forgotten sweetness; the Black Republican, fully as Numidian in color as its name implies; the Burr Seedling and the Governor Wood. The black cherries are shipped in a fresh state to the Pacific coast cities within a radius ranging from San Diego to Seattle, to the less favored communities of the Middle West and to the Atlantic seaboard. The cherry crop is harvested at the latter point by at least four weeks. The Royal Anne and other of the so-called "white" cherries, are much in demand for canning purposes.

On the Meek orchard tract, recently subdivided and placed on the market in residence sites of one acre and more, a purchaser of five acres has contracted with the cannery people for the disposal of the cherries on his place for a period of five years at 5 cents per pound. The instance is cited as being in evidence of the self-supporting nature of many of the areas not sold for purposes other than homesites.

PEARS AND OTHER THINGS.

Ranking third in the list of fruits raised within a radius of a 45-minute street car ride from the heart of Greater Oakland, is pears. The latter crop is disposed of in much the same manner as the apricot crop, some of the varieties best adapted for shipping finding their way to the Eastern markets, and others, notably the Bartlett pear, being purchased for canning purposes.

The area contiguous to San Leandro and Hayward given over to fruit raising, approximately 10,000 acres. The aggregate annual yield has a value of over $2,000,000. The value of the yield per acre is about $200, or an average of $1000 for a 5-acre tract. This represents the value of the fruit crop only, however, for in addition is to be taken into consideration in summing up the worth of your property from one to ten-acre tract as a self-supporting agent, the value of the berries and vegetables which can be raised in the soil beneath the trees. Raspberries, currants and other products of similar variety thrive and yield well under such circumstances, as do likewise potatoes and other vegetables.

Take garlic for instance. Now, garlic is not particularly euphonious as a name, nor is it attar of roses to the smell, and, yet, like other humble agents, it serves well those who take the trouble to cultivate it. Four cents per pound is bid for garlic and at that price those who cultivate it in this county are coining money just as easily as though they worked in the mine.

A WORD ABOUT POULTRY.

When anybody asks you, "Why does a hen?" the answer is Hayward. Adjacent to this thriving suburban town, located twelve miles southeast of Oakland, is a large area of hill land well adapted for the raising of chickens. The land in question is being subdivided into tracts and sold for poultry raising purposes. No section of this state offers better advantages in that regard. The soil is a sandy loam, the drainage is excellent, the water is pure and the big markets of the Pacific Coast easy of access. Owing to the distance from the ocean and the elevation there is an almost entire absence of fog and cold wind to chill and debilitate the young chicks. The range of temperature is from 30 to 82 degree above zero, and the average rainfall is twenty-two inches.

Members of the Hayward Poultry Association are authority for the statement that so diversified are the advantages of certain lands adjacent to that city for the raising of chickens that many Petalumans, formerly engaged in the poultry raising business there, are now engaged in the same occupation in the vicinity of Hayward. It is stated that certain sections of land contiguous to Oakland are superior to the best in the vicinity of Petaluma for the propagation of domestic fowl of diverse sorts. Eggs produced in the area immediately east of this city command one to two cents per dozen more in the Oakland and San Francisco markets over those shipped from other points. The estimated production at this time is over five million dozen eggs per year, and the estimated average price is 30 cents per dozen. All of which goes to prove that birds other than the goose lay golden eggs. And speaking of geese, a good many thousand dollars per year are secured by raising them out Hayward way, the same statement applying to the propagation of ducks and goats.

TRANSPORTATION AND CLIMATE.

Proximity to Oakland and San Francisco, quick train service, cheap communication rates and an unexcelled climate are the advantages that suburban Oakland offers to those who seek the charms of country life at points convenient to the cities' marts of trade. The absence of fog, together with a superb panoramic view of green-rolling hills, lush meadows and sparkling bay, contribute to make suburban residence here idealistic and withal, to be had without too great a strain upon the pocketbook of the local "Mr. Howson Lot." The entire area is threaded by the steel of the Western Pacific, Southern Pacific and Oakland Traction Companies' railways, and will soon be traversed by the extension of the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose (Key Route) railway to San Jose. By train and ferry the traveling time from Hayward to San Francisco is less than an hour and to Oakland less than forty minutes. A much quicker service is to be established the current year. The Western Pacific Company, for instance, proposes to have a 25-minute service in operation between Hayward and Oakland by the middle of July.

The country is being settled very rapidly and the demand for real estate is brisk and growing. Along the East Fourth street line of the Oakland Traction Company and in the vicinity of the proposed extension of the Western Pacific, Southern Pacific and Key Route companies the area is becoming particularly populous. The price of land has trebled there within five years, and it is predicted will at least double its present price within the next three years.

Hayward, San Leandro, San Lorenzo, Elmhurst and other of the suburban towns tributary to Oakland can also be reached over the magnificent roads built under the direction of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors. These roads are justly celebrated as being the best in the state. Easy of grade, well oiled, bluminized and cared for, they afford a most pleasurable journey by auto. By the same token it is well to state that many of the so-called "farmers" of this vicinity are the owners of high-power cars and lead the independent life of a country gentleman.

Insurrectos Rout Haytien Soldiers

President Timon's Throne Grows Shaky; Rebel Strength Grows.

CAPE HATTIEN, Hayti, June 1.—The revolution in the northern department of Hayti against the government of President Simon is growing serious. The uprising began a month ago and the rebels are daily becoming stronger. Several sharp engagements have been fought between the rebels and the federalists under the commands of General Simon Gilles, the minister of war, and General Horde Magallanes, the commander of the Cape Haytien district. The insurrectos were victorious. Many persons on both sides were wounded. The rebels captured two cannon and one machine gun.

MOTHER OF DROWNED YOUTH RECOVERING

ALAMEDA, June 1.—Mrs. George M. Landsburg, mother of Guy Matthew Landsburg who was drowned two months ago, is recovering from a month's illness and is now able to be out. Mrs. Landsburg's condition was the result of the shock caused by her son's tragic death. Although still weak from her past serious illness, she is now able to see and talk with friends.

PLUCKY WOMAN ROUTS BOLD BURGLAR

Miss Alma Wilhelm Faces the Intruder and Puts Him to Flight.

Man Holds Her at Bay With a Revolver in Home of Oaklander.

Looting of the residence of M. Sawyer at 234 Harwood street, was prevented by the bravery of Miss Alma Wilhelm, a young woman guest at the house, who found a burglar engaged in ransacking a bedroom in the place and put him to flight without his plunder. The burglar held Miss Wilhelm at bay at the point of a revolver from a window in the house. The girl immediately gave the alarm, and a pursuit was instituted. The man had made good his escape.

Miss Wilhelm was in the kitchen of the house, ironing, about 9:15 last night when she heard a noise as of someone moving about in an adjoining room. She went to investigate, but found no one, and returned to the kitchen. Still suspicious she entered a bedroom at the rear of the house.

Miss Wilhelm confronted a man engaged in searching the drawers of a chiffonier. A pile of loot was in the middle of the floor, ready to be placed in a bag to be carried away. The girl called out for aid.

THREATENS HER.

At the sound of her voice the burglar turned swiftly and whipped out a revolver, which he leveled at her head.

"If you make a noise I'll kill you," he threatened. He glanced at the loot he had gathered, but evidently abandoned the idea of attempting to take this with him under the circumstances. Then he walked toward the young woman, causing her to retreat through the doorway into the hall. He forced her into the front room, where he circled around her to gain a window he had

TWO CONCERTS TO BE GIVEN FOR Y. M. I. BENEFIT

MRS. G. A. LEROUX, who will participate in Y. M. I. concert.

ALAMEDA, June 1.—Mrs. G. A. Leroux will be one of the participants in the concerts to be given tonight and tomorrow night by California Council, No. 24, Young Men's Institute. The Institute has prepared a program that will prove a rare treat to music lovers. The two concerts, which will be given to raise funds to equip the Y. M. I. band, will be held at Adelphi hall. Chester Kelly and Mrs. J. Rollin Fitch are on the program. Mrs. Leroux will sing two solos.

left open to make good his retreat. Climbing upon the sill, he suddenly slipped the revolver into his pocket and dropped to the ground.

Miss Wilhelm immediately notified others in the house and an attempt was made to follow the man. The police were notified.

Miss Wilhelm describes the man as wearing a mustache, carefully curled, which she believes to be false. He was about 30 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches in height. He wore a dark suit of clothes, soft shirt and a black slouch hat.

GARROS FLIES INTO ITALIAN CAPITAL

French Aviator Second Contestant to Reach Rome in Aeroplane.

Receives New Machine at Pisa and Quickly Ends the Journey.

ROME, June 1.—Roland Garros, the French aviator, was the second contestant in the 1300 mile Paris-Rome-Turin aviation race to reach the Italian capital. He arrived here at 5:10 o'clock this afternoon from Pisa, which city he left at 10:30 this morning. In a determined effort to overtake his keenest rival, Andre Beaumont, who was the first aviator to complete the second stage of the Paris-Rome-Turin flight, Roland Garros started from Paris at 10:30 o'clock this morning bound for Rome.

Garros, who was delayed at Pisa yesterday by an accident which badly damaged his machine, received a new machine this morning. After working for two hours on the motor to perfect its movement, the Frenchman ascended, and hugging the Mediterranean coast, headed for this city. He passed over Grosseto, about 80 miles south of Pisa at 11:50 a. m.

RESUMES FLIGHT.

Vidart resumed his flight from Nice today at 4:51 o'clock a. m., and reached Genoa three hours and five minutes later. After taking on a supply of fuel he again ascended and headed for Pisa. Garros passed over Civita Vecchia, 40 miles north of Rome, at 12:35 p. m., but soon afterward was forced to land to replenish his supply of petroleum. He is expected to arrive here at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Vidart reached Pisa at 12:25 o'clock this afternoon and is making preparations to continue his flight toward Rome at 3 p. m.

EDITOR UNDERGOES OPERATION. SEBASTIAN, June 1.—William D. Watson, editor of the Berkeley Independent and a resident of East Oakland, is recovering at East Bay sanatorium, in an operation for appendicitis, which he underwent Sunday.

QUINCY A. CHASE, PRESIDENT.

GEO. Q. CHASE, VICE PRESIDENT.

THOMAS WINTER, SECRETARY.

MAIN OFFICE.

SAN FRANCISCO.

Oakland, Cal. May 25, 1911.

Oakland Tribune.

Gentlemen:

You will be interested in knowing we have had excellent results in our great removal piano sale and we appreciate the assistance the SUNDAY TRIBUNE has given us in making this sale a great success.

It is but natural that piano houses should use the paper delivered in the best homes - those able to purchase such high-class commodities, and you will be interested in knowing that on one Monday following our Sunday page advertisement, we sold eleven pianos, at a value of about $400 each. We traced these sales direct to our publicity in the SUNDAY TRIBUNE. Previously we had tried some of the San Francisco papers claiming a very large circulation in Alameda County, but did not receive anywhere near the results accomplished through the Oakland Tribune.

Oakland people, we find, look to the Tribune for all forms of news and therefore our advertisements meet with quick response.

We also had a great many calls from outside towns, selling pianos all over this County through the space used in the SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

Appreciating your efforts to give Oakland a good Sunday paper, we are,

Yours very truly,

KOHLER & CHASE

Pitcher Ables of Locals Gets Bumped Up North and Leaders Win Again in Oaks

BATTING RALLY BY DUCKS BRINGS DISASTER TO OAKS

Ables Gets Bumped in Fifth Inning and Knight Is Likewise Treated

Disaster came to the Oaks in the northland yesterday, losing out to the Beavers by a score of 9 to 4.

Over the bay Cal Ewing's hired men gave the Seals a trouncing and in the southland it was a victory for the Senators, said victory putting the Seals into second place and shoving Happy Hogan back to third. The Oaks are still in fourth place by a narrow margin.

As to the game up north, it wasn't enough Ables, too much Finney and a little slipping on the part of K. Knight. The big New York southpaw had one of those days that come to the best pitchers in the world and after four innings of faultless ball he slipped and the Beavers grabbed off four runs and that many hits and two passes.

If the fifth Ables walked Barry and whom Sheehan combed out a double Ables was ordered to the bench and K. Knight went forward. K. Knight should have been left at home along with Mitz, Maggart and Miller, for his work had the same old streak of yellow in it. Of course the game was lost, but what was the use of adding to the misery for the fans watching the progress of the team on the big TRIBUNE board.

Of course, when a team is losing the umpire is partly to blame, therefore Mr. Finney is due for a planning this day from the crabs. Bending the account of the contest we see where the man without an understandable voice chased McCredie off the lot and then he chased Wolverton, Zacher and Hettling, all of which didn't help the Oaks a particle.

Koestner, the one time invincible, held the hill for the Beavers and hurled a great article of ball until the eighth frame, when he got a hump and had to be sent to the bench. Of course, this lacing produced three runs for the Oaks and with the one they had brought it up to four, but they weren't enough. With the team going good and Chas. feeling good and in winning form, maybe we will gather one today.

Following is the score of the game in the northland:

PARALYSIS YIELDS TO DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS

Many Forms of the Dread Disease Are Curable by This Remedy

MR. LUCAS SAYS IT SAVED HIS LIFE

This Cleveland Man Was Getting Worse All the Time When He Began the Treatment but Improvement Quickly Followed—Read His Grateful Statement

Fresh proof is furnished almost daily of the wonderful power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in the treatment of the most severe nervous disorders. No claim is made for the treatment that is not substantiated by proof that is open to the most rigid investigation and the evidence is indisputable that there are many forms of paralysis that are readily curable by these tonic pills. In cases that are not entirely curable the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills often results in such radical improvement that life is once more made worth living to the formerly hopeless sufferer.

The evidence upon which the claims of this remedy is based is not confined to a single cure. All over the United States there are men and women going about their daily occupation with little or no inconvenience, who, before taking the treatment, had been declared beyond the help of medicine. No sufferer from a severe nervous disorder who has not tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should abandon hope, for the remedy that has shown about these marvelous results for others is surely entitled to a thorough trial.

The latest evidence.

The most recent case to come to public attention is that of Mr. D. L. Lucas, of No. 2183 East 103rd street, Cleveland, Ohio, a man well known in real estate circles in that city. He had a remarkable escape from death as is shown by the following statement:

"My trouble started with a stomach disorder, but I believe that malaria poisoning was the original cause and this was the opinion of the doctors who attended me. Creeping paralysis finally resulted from the broken down condition of my health and I came near to death. During the greater part of my sickness I could get about the house by holding on to articles of furniture, but at times was confined to my bed.

Limbs Were Shrunken.

"The paralysis came on slowly, but was never complete. I had trouble with my kidneys and my liver was torpid all the time. My lower limbs shrank perceptibly. I suffered some with shooting pains, my appetite was feeble and I was altogether in a terrible condition.

"When the disease was at its worst I called my wife to my bedside and told her that I was getting worse all the time and if I kept on in this way there would be no help for me. I had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People some time before and had been benefited, and I told her I thought if I have them a thorough, persistent trial they would do me good. She agreed with me, and I started taking the pills. After a few doses I saw that the medicine was helping me, and I continued the treatment, following

TRAGEDY'S GHOST HAUNTS HOSTELRY

Since Killing in Hotel Brule Last Year Place Is a Hoodoo.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—The tragedy of the shooting of one of the managers of the Hotel Brule by the other last year, has cast a hoodoo upon the hostelry on Middy street, and, according to the owner, three tenants have been unable to make it to.

James Whitley shot and killed Zula A. Bartly in an elevator, and subsequently tried to take his own life. He was in love with the woman, and it is said she repulsed his advances. He will be tried before Judge Dunne on June 8 for the crime.

CONDITIONS QUIET AT COTTON MILLS

More Than 500 of Force of 600 Back at Work On Second Day.

The second day of work following the strike of the California Cotton Mills employees finds conditions at the mills quiet and things running smoothly.

More than 500 of the full force of about 600 employees was at work this morning, which number includes all the former workers in Oakland; the other employees who had not yet returned are those living out of town, in some of the surrounding districts. It is understood that the new schedule of wages in no way affects the mill employees. They will be paid for their eight hours' work what they have previously received for nine. The operators who are affected by the new schedule are those chiefly employed on piece work, and they have expressed their willingness to return under the company's schedule because it is claimed, they can earn as much as before by increased production. The organization existing among the former strikers has, it is understood, been abandoned.

RETAILERS FAVOR ANTI-COTTON RAILWAY

Members of Alameda County Hardware Association Thank City Council.

At the annual meeting of the Alameda County Retail Hardware Dealers' Association a resolution was unanimously adopted thanking the city council for granting to the Oakland and Antioch Railroad Company the right-of-way on Shafter avenue and also recommending that the company be granted further privileges to the end that it may establish a terminus near the center of Oakland, thereby bringing to the city the trade from the interior towns of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys.

The resolution was signed by the following members of the Alameda County Retail Hardware Association: A. S. Cooley (president), L. A. Smith (secretary), Smith Bros. Hardware Company, Walter Meese, Jarvis Hardware Company, J. W. Brown Hardware Company, Maxwell Hardware Company, A. R. Rittinger, Almond Mission Company, W. A. Why Pay Rent?

Oakland, Cal. May 25, 1911.

Oakland Tribune.

Gentlemen:

It is sometimes difficult to tract direct results to newspaper publicity for real estate advertising.We have keyed our advertising in the SUNDAY TRIBUNE both for Oakland real estate and country lands and you will be interested in knowing we have had most excellent results.We have also tried all San Francisco publications circulating in this County and can say that all combined do not give us the results secured from the SUNDAY TRIBUNE. No matter how large or how small the advertisement may be, we are sure to receive answers from all parts of the State, which leads us to believe you have lately greatly increased your outside circulation.The real test of the utility of a newspaper for advertising purposes is found in the replies received either by mail or in person. In this respect the Tribune outdistances all other competitors and gives most excellent results.

Nance O'Neil Welcomed by An Enthusiastic Audience at the Macdonough.

A better-balanced company has not been seen in Oakland this season than that which produced "The Lily" at the Macdonough theater last night. Neither has a play with more genuine interest come out of the East. A good-sized audience greeted Nance O'Neil, Charles Cartwright, Julia Dean and their support at the first performance of a three-day play, and success from the box-office end is in sight as soon as the word is passed along.

Belasco must have worked hard with the inclinations of the actress and the lines of "The Lily" before he made them presentable. You remember the shrieking, wailing Nance O'Neil, who, as Magda, groveled at the feet of McKee Rankin? She has gone with Rankin. Nance O'Neil, at her stage best, is no longer a heroine; she is much of a woman. With the aid of Belasco's eye-glasses she has found herself. As the Lily—the French woman who has watched the years obliterate hopes and dreams, as she grows old in sacrifice and household service—the western actress brings out that slumbering best that is in her. The change is welcome.

Julia Dean, as the sister, Christine, proves a remarkably clever actress, with a safe hold on the safety valve of her emotion. Charles Cartwright, as the father, gives a picture of the selfish rascal that is bound to live as one of the characterizations of the modern stage. Huzar is well-played by Oscar Eagle, and Arnold is safe in the hands of Victor Dexter. The play is well-cast and well-staged.

RICHMOND SEEKS A PUBLIC PARK

Marked Advance in the Price of Realty Makes Choice of Site Difficult.

RICHMOND, June 1.—This city is having some difficulty in securing land for a public park, due to the rapid advance in the value of realty here. It had been the idea to secure from the Santa Fe some of its land at the corner of Macdonough avenue and along Ohio street, but the railroad has refused flatly to consider any such project.

Division Superintendent Walker, in answering the request of City Clerk Vaughan for a statement on the matter, says "The city is a growing community" and that "it would be very short sighted" for the company to dispose of any of its holdings, since the city when the company should need more land it would have to pay a stiff price for it. There is some talk of a condemnation proceeding.

The railroad is, however, willing to cooperate with the city in the construction of a municipal wharf and tunnel, as evidenced by a letter from Walker requesting a project of a bridge over the mutual aid in the matter. It is probable, however, that the city will prefer to do the work independently, so that no one particular corporation will have any strings on the traffic to be created by it. It is considered a desirable property, including the car franchise, will become valuable as to reimburse the city several times for the money expended.

ADMIRE OAKLAND
PROGRESSIVE SPIRIT

Merchant Formerly Located in Northern Cities Concludes to Reside Here.

With nothing but kind words for the progressive cities of Washington, and many years of successful business at Blaine and Bellingham, Wash., Mr. Morris Aronson comes to engage in business here.

Several up-to-date stores have been operated by Mr. Aronson in other cities and his venture in Oakland in purchasing the Savoy Shoe Store, at Eleventh and Washington streets, is no exception to his usual policy.

This well known store has for years catered to the best only. He prophesies for Oakland a splendid future as a factory and business center.

"As compared with the northern cities," he says, "it is far in advance. Oakland's splendid waterfront and railroad terminal facilities insure its permanency as a trading center. Business possibilities here appear to be better than elsewhere."

Since locating in Oakland, Mr. Aronson has purchased some valuable downtown properties. The continued prosperity attending the Savoy Shoe Store also gratifies the new merchant.

Several of the former townspeople of Mr. Aronson have expressed their desire to become Oakland citizens and entering into business here.

Mr. Alex Hirschberg, the well known merchant of Oakland, a brother-in-law of Mr. Aronson, is in no small way responsible for the locating of the estimable gentleman from Bellingham.

PARENTS SEEK BOY WHO DISAPPEARED ON MAY 30

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Vincent Freppita, a black-eyed boy of ten years, has been missing from his home, 1740 Greenwich street, since Memorial Day and his frantic parents have been unable to gain any clue as to where he has gone. The little lad, dressed in his blue overalls, had been playing in the vicinity of the house during the morning, but no one seems to have observed him leaving the neighborhood and no possible theory can be advanced as to the mode of his disappearance. Detectives have been detailed by Captain Wall to aid in the search for him.

WINS FIGHT FOR LIFE.
It was a long and bloody battle for life that was waged by James B. Mershon of Newark, N. J., of which he writes: "I had lost much blood from lung hemorrhage, and was very weak and run down. For eight months I was unable to work. Death seemed close on my heels, when I began, three weeks ago, to use Dr. King's New Discovery. But it has helped me greatly. It is doing all that you claim." For weak, sore lungs; obstinate coughs; asthmatic coughs; hoarseness; ill grippe; asthma; hay fever; or throat or lung trouble it's supreme. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. SAN FRANCISCO POLICE
ARREST ALLEGED THIEF

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—After searching for two days for the thief who robbed John Harn of Seattle of $190, Policemen Seguire and Gallatin this morning arrested Charles Teeberg, a carpenter, and charged him with burglary at the city prison. Harn with a friend, Thomas Yost, came here from the Washington metropolis on Tuesday, and fell in with Teeberg enroute.

All visited the downtown section on the night of their arrival and finally took lodgings at the Douglas house, Harrison street, near Third.

During the night Harn was robbed of all his money and valuables, and the officers were detailed to investigate. They discovered that Teeberg had requested specially a room next to Harn and "learned" that a man clad only in night apparel, had been seen noiselessly coming from the Seattle man's room.

The next morning Teeberg was missing. He had been penniless and when he was arrested today had considerable money.

Barbed wire cuts, ragged wounds, collar and harness galls heal up quickly when BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT is applied. It is both healing and antiseptic. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Wishart's Drug Store, Tenth and Washington streets.
